Epsilon Beta Will Conduct Bazaar for Buena Vista Party

The members of Epsilon Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi are busy getting ready for the bazaar and card party to be held Thursday evening, Nov. 21, at Horace Mann gymnasium. The proceeds will be used for the Christmas party at Buena Vista.

The sorority's service project for the year is remembering the residents of Buena Vista. Each month two of the members take refreshments to the home in honor of those who have birthdays that month. The girls also lead in playing games with the residents and also entertain by singing and playing the piano. All residents are also remembered on special occasions such as Thanksgiving, Halloween, Valentine's Day and Easter. And by having the bazaar the girls hope to have an unusually nice Christmas party with gifts for all 50 residents.

The residents of Buena Vista have also become interested in the bazaar and several of them have embroidered tea towels and crocheted articles. These will be sold along with the towels made by the sorority members. Various hot pad holders in clever design, decorated pine cones to be used for Christmas, also hand decorated Christmas candles, stuffed toys, party aprons, and various other handmade articles plus illuminous name plates for mailboxes and lantern posts will be sold. It will be a general discussion as to the nature of the disease, what is known of the cause and how it acts in the human body.

The speaker will be Victor B. Buhler, M. D. of Kansas City. Dr. Buhler is pathologist at St. Joseph's Hospital. Dr. Buhler graduated from the University of Kansas School of Medicine and did postgraduate work in pathology at the Medical Center. He is clinical professor of pathology at the University of Kansas School of Medicine.

The Pettis County Medical Forums are presented by the Pettis County Medical Society in the public interest. They are open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Four Crewmen Found Alive, Six Are Dead In Wreckage of B29

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 16 (AP)—Four crewmen were found alive and six dead today in the wreckage of an Air Force B29 that crashed into an Alaska mountain-side during a snowstorm last night.

The four survivors, all injured, were airlifted here from the crash scene in the Talkeetna range about 50 miles to the northeast.

Their names and extent of their injuries were not available immediately. Nor were the names of the dead released.

The shattered, four-engine plane was sighted before midday at the 6,900-foot level of the snow-covered peak. Two helicopters and another search plane had been out since daybreak looking for the missing bomber.

Defense Expense Talk Due

President Schedules Meeting on Tuesday With McElroy at His Office in Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy will meet here Tuesday to discuss just how big a defense spending hike is needed to meet the Russian space era threat.

The President's vacation headquarters said McElroy will be accompanied from Washington by the Pentagon's fiscal expert, Asst. Secretary of Defense Wilfred J. McNeil.

Before completing arrangements for that meeting and getting in a round of golf delayed by rain, Eisenhower talked by telephone with Secretary of State Dulles regarding French protests over Anglo-American arms shipments to Tunisia. Dulles was in Washington.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, declined to provide any detail on the Eisenhower-Dulles discussion. The token arms shipments stirred French wrath just a month in advance of a Paris NATO council meeting designed to strengthen the North Atlantic Alliance in the light of Soviet Union advances in development of missiles and other space age weapons. Eisenhower and the government heads of the 14 other NATO members nations plan to attend that meeting.

In Paris, an emergency session of the permanent council broke up without healing the break. Delegates declined to hold another conciliation session next week.

Eisenhower was kept closely posted regarding efforts to smooth over the rift.

As for United States defense spending plans for the fiscal year starting next July 1, the President and McElroy will confer at the Augusta National Golf Club Tuesday against the background of Eisenhower's assertion that expenditures for weapons of the future must be increased by "a very considerable figure."

The President made that statement in a nationwide television-radio address from Oklahoma City last Wednesday night. He did not estimate how big an increase is needed. He, McElroy and McNeil will try to determine that Tuesday.

17 Die as Fire Burns Old Tenement House

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—A nightmare fire roared through a rickety tenement early today, taking 17 lives. Fourteen were children.

In seconds, flames engulfed the three-story frame structure which housed two Negro families.

The dead, most of them trapped upstairs, included a 25-year-old mother and her eight children, six youngsters from the other family, and two roomers in what was once the Moonlight Hotel.

It was the worst fire in the history of this honeymoon capital.

Nine people were injured. Herbert Reid, 16, was near death.

City officials probed through the charred shell seeking the cause. Tentatively, they blamed an oil-fired steam furnace that may have exploded.

Awaits Friends' Visits Eagerly

Mrs. Mollie Potter Will Observe Her 102nd Birthday Next Sunday

Pettis County's oldest and most beloved citizen will be 102 years young on Saturday Nov. 23. She is Mrs. Mollie Potter, Clifton City, widow of the late John Potter, who has spent her entire life in the community where she lives, with the exception of a few years when she resided in Sedalia.

Referring to her age of 102, she said, "You're just as old as you feel, and I don't feel old yet."

Open house will be held on Sunday, Nov. 24, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert S. Cox, on State Highway 135, north of U. S. Highway 50 near Clifton City. "I will be waiting to see and talk to my many friends," Mrs. Potter remarked when told the family had planned on asking their friends over for the afternoon.

She was a member of a pioneer Missouri families, that race of sturdy forefathers who came west more than a century ago, cleared the forest, tilled the soil and built their homes from the trees of the nearby forest and brought our civilization to the high standards of today.

She was the daughter of the late John D. and Nancy K. Sheffer, born on a farm west of Clifton City, Nov. 23, 1855. Her father was a Kentuckian, and when she was but a small child, he was drafted into the Union Army during the Civil War and served under General Grant. He left his family—Mollie was the eldest of three children—alone to wait his return.

Mrs. Potter was born on a farm which is one-fourth mile north of the home of her daughter, known as the old Thomas place. Soon after her father returned from the Civil War, her mother and the three children went to live with her parents, Henry and Sally Thomas, pioneer residents from Virginia. She grew to womanhood on this farm and at the age of 20 was married to John Potter.

Later Mrs. Potter and her husband bought the Thomas place, her birthplace, and they lived there until his death in 1920. Shortly afterwards she moved to Sedalia with her eldest son, D. H. Potter, and they resided here until his death in 1935, after which she moved back into the girlhood community to live with a daughter, Mrs. Daisy Higdon, until last August when she went with her other daughter, Mrs. Cox, after Mrs. Higdon became ill.

She remembers little about the Civil War except one incident. She said, "I clearly recall when a neighbor came to tell my mother that the bushwhackers were coming through the neighborhood that night. My mother, my brothers and I took a nice span of horses my mother owned, and tied them in a dense forest."

"Another incident I remember was when the slaves were made free, as my grandfather owned a number of slaves. Some of these did not care to be free, as they had been happy in their cabin homes. Some remained for a number of years and the old Negro mammy, the main cook, stayed on for years," she said.

"I often heard my grandfather speak of the time when they first entered Pettis County," she said, "saying where Sedalia is now located was an open prairie covered with prairie grass about three to four feet tall. I have often heard him say at one time he could have bought all the land he wanted around Sedalia, and part of where Sedalia is now, for $1.50 to $2 per acre."

Mr. and Mrs. Potter reared a family of seven children, four of whom resided within a half-mile of each other, Mrs. Higdon, Mrs. Cox, (Please turn to page 8, column 3)

New Master Plan Is Drafted

Airport Board Discusses Passenger, Freight Service

The Sedalia Municipal Memorial Airport Board at a meeting Thursday noon discussed the probability of airport improvement with the thought in mind of obtaining air passenger and freight service in and out of Sedalia in the future.

A complete new master plan for the airport, with future planning, was drafted by Dale H. Fearn, chief of the aviation section of the Missouri Division of Resources and Development. The Airport Board several months ago asked assistance from the Resources and Development in planning for the future of the airport.

Because of the demand of prospective industry for airport facilities and the constant increase of air travel by representatives of industry it was brought before the board to see what improvements would be necessary to make the local field appropriate and available for both private flying and airline travel.

The present runway, it has been proven, is not satisfactory for private flying, much less seeking airline traffic. The present runway is too narrow, too short and has a cross-wind which is not favorable for flying.

Plans call for a new north-south runway a landing strip of 400 feet by 4,200 feet. At present the plan calls for a sod runway to be approximately 100 feet wide and 3,100 feet.

The temporary sod runway will be cut in by the city so as to accommodate the present small plane fliers, who have difficulty in landing on the present paved runway because of the cross-wind.

The new master plan is now in the hands of the Civil Aeronautics

Administration for approval. This new plan shows the switch in the original master plan with the proposed up-to-date improvements.

Before the city can request federal aid in going ahead with the proposed plans, the new master plan must be first approved. After this step has been completed, the next step is to survey and estimate costs for these necessary improvements to bring the local field up to standard.

The local field activity has been on the upgrade the past several months, with more interest being shown by Sedalians who are flying. Also, more cross-country fliers have been using the local fields from time to time.

Sedalia now has a lighted runway with a beacon from dusk to dawn. Since the field has been lighted at night, there have been several times when cross-country fliers have landed here and remained overnight.

The prime effort of the board now is to get the airport built up and to try to get an airline to use the local field for passenger service, which the board feels will benefit Sedalia and put the city in a better position for bidding for new industry.

Egypt Denies Plane To Seek Uranium

CAIRO (AP)—An official of Egypt's Atomic Energy Commission denied today Cairo press reports that Egypt had purchased a special plane and equipment from the Soviet Union for a uranium search in the Egyptian deserts.

"No such plane has arrived and none is expected," the official said.

The present board of directors, consisting of Claude L. Boul, president, I. H. Reed, vice-president, H. C. Salveter, secretary, H. R. Harris, treasurer, Abe Silverman and J. J. McGrath, members, has stated that there is no intention of paying any salaries except for actual bookkeeping services to any officer or director, the sole objective being to use all the money possible to induce new industries to locate here.

Protests Link With Murder

Union Local Boss Denies Ever Threatening Man Later Slain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—A portly, balding little Teamsters Union local boss protested today against testimony which he said linked him with an unsolved killing near New York City.

Bernie Adelstein, secretary-treasurer, of Teamsters Local 813, denied he ever had threatened John Acropolis, a rival union official who was slain in 1952, and said some of the testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee has "caused my family and me unbelievable suffering."

Adelstein acknowledged under questioning that he and his relatives have drawn more than $300,000 from various union activities since 1952, and that the Local 813 "dance fund" had been tapped to provide him with a $5,889 air-conditioned Cadillac and a $10,000 life insurance policy.

The committee made no effort to link the fact that the killing occurred in 1952 with the receipts of Adelstein since that year.

Adelstein, whose testimony wound up the committee's inquiry into the 50-million-dollar a year trash collection business in and around New York City, testified he had these relatives on union payrolls: His sister, brother, nephew, and the nephew's "second or third" cousin.

Committee investigator Maurice Frame testified the Adelstein family collected $38,570 in 1952 and said the figure grew each year until it reached $75,360 in 1956.

Adelstein's lawyer, David L. Shvitz, indicated in protesting against this line of inquiry that some of the money came from Local 34 of the Coopers International Union of North America, which Adelstein also served as business manager.

Adelstein testified he received $20,000 or $21,000 a year salary from Local 813 of the Teamsters and $250 a week plus $35 a week expenses from Local 34 of the Coopers union.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief committee counsel, said the 1956 payments of $75,360 to the Adelsteins represented 45 per cent of all the dues collected by both locals.

In a statement summarizing the week-long hearing, Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) accused Adelstein of "collusion" with Vincent (Jimmy) Squillante, who took the Fifth Amendment when called before the committee yesterday.

McClellan described Squillante as "a hoodlum labor relations man" who established himself as "the absolute czar of the private sanitation industry in Greater New York."

In an obvious reference to the Mafia, McClellan said witnesses had testified to a belief that Squillante "represented the highest echelon of the organized Italian underworld."

CMSC Dean Begins Foreign Assignment

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP)—Dr. Lloyd E. Grimes, dean of personnel at Central Missouri State College, and Mrs. Grimes left yesterday on the first stage of a two-year foreign assignment.

Dr. Grimes will serve as an area educational adviser in West Pakistan.

Dr. and Mrs. Grimes went first to Washington where they will receive State Department briefing before flying to Karachi.

Biggest Storm Of the Season Hits the Plains

DENVER, Nov. 16 (AP)—The biggest storm of the season mushroomed over the Rocky Mountain states and spread to the Plains today, snarling traffic, building a heavy mountain snowpack and causing at least one death.

The Weather Bureau issued a heavy snow warning for western Nebraska after four inches of snow accumulated in Colorado and Wyoming.

The snow started during the night and continued briskly through the morning. The forecast was for continued snowfall.

The Pueblo Airport in southern Colorado was closed because of poor visibility. Flights were routed either to Colorado Springs, or Denver.

Leonard Edwards, 33, of rural Colorado Springs, was killed last night when pinned under water by his overturned car.

Minor automobile collisions by the score were reported throughout Colorado.

The heaviest snow in Wyoming was in the high mountains. All mountain passes were snow-packed or icy. Motorists were advised to use chains.

The coldest spot in the nation early today was Fraser, high in the Colorado Rockies, with 11 below zero.

Industry Fund Campaign Is Mapped

Final plans for completing a campaign now underway to raise funds for construction of manufacturing buildings for new industries in Sedalia were made in a meeting held Thursday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce meeting room.

Those attending the meeting were members of the Chamber's industrial development committee and the retail merchants committee. The meeting was called by the chairman of the retail merchants committee, Bob Wall.

A manufacturing building is now under construction on the north five acres of this land for the Precision Engineering Co. of Maquoketa, Ia. An estimated $60,000 will be spent for the land and building and this is to be the first industry to locate in the new area. The Sedalia Improvement Association, Inc., has the contract for this project which is to be paid out on a ten-year lease-purchase agreement. Charles T. Reisdorph, owner of Precision Engineer Co., estimates his initial employment will be about 35 persons and that, as new products are developed and marketed, employment will increase to 125 employees.

As previously announced, the goal is to raise $300,000 through the sale of capital stock in the Sedalia Improvement Assn., Inc., which is a Chamber of Commerce sponsored corporation organized for the purpose of acquiring land and construction manufacturing buildings for industries wishing to locate here. All projects of this nature undertaken by the corporation will be negotiated primarily with a view of creating new jobs for Sedalia and thus develop more payroll.

The corporation will operate the same as any other business enterprise, for the purpose of showing a profit. Since its business conduct will be of a highly specialized nature only industries able to show the ability to produce more payroll will be considered. Such industries will be offered land sites and manufacturing buildings on a lease-purchase plan so that the property will ultimately become the property of the industry itself and at the same time return a profit to the corporation.

A practical forward step was taken recently when the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce purchased a land site of 30 acres just west of the Missouri Pacific railroad spur which leads from the main line of the railroad to the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp. plant and the Missouri State Fair grounds. The site is located on the north side of the Highway 50 and is soon to be transformed into an industrial park, thus providing an attractive site on which industrial buildings can be located.

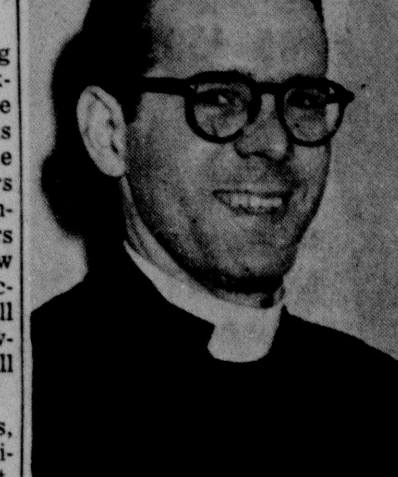

Purchase of the land was made possible with funds returned when the Home Building Corp., a successful Chamber of Commerce project completed about 11 years ago, paid its final balance which was originally advanced by members of the Chamber of Commerce to the Sedalia Industrial Development Corp.

The function of the Sedalia Improvement Association, Inc., is to work closely with the board of directors and the industrial development committee of the Chamber of Commerce and, when a new industry is secured, final negotiations will be carried out between the industry and the Improvement Assn.

Several members of the Chamber of Commerce industrial development committee have made the assertion that the committee will be able to bring in new industries just as quickly as the community will be able to raise the necessary funds with which to construct the new plants. Several new leads to possible new industries are being followed at this time.

It was pointed out that, in order for Sedalia to keep its present stable economy, it is quite necessary to bring in new industries in the very near future due to processes now at work which are about to have an adverse effect on the economy. With approximately 600 other communities in the nation actively competing for new industries, and engaged in money-raising projects to assure success, the people of this area must be expected to support the campaign now under way in Sedalia.

Sylvan Woolery is vice-president, and Charles Hanley was re-elected treasurer. The secretary will be appointed later by the new board. New members of the board are Jack Crawford, Jack Shoemaker, J. C. Alexander, William Ward and Russell Maag.

Hired Man, Once Prominent In American Scene, Is Gone

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the hired man?

A generation ago he began to disappear from the American scene, and left a gap in family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

The hired man at one time was a neighborhood resource, the poor relation by loyalty but not by blood of a dozen or so families he had adopted.

Any family in the community could ask the hired man to work for them. He generally worked only for the families he chose, lone as he was.

His pay was invariably low. Nobody spoiled him with money. Nobody expected him to brood over the fact his fate was to brush the dust from the welcome mat spread for other feet.

Often he would work for sick people, who having survived local medicine and escaped the local undertaker, would victoriously call in the hired man to brighten up the place to make them feel better.

The hired man knew that sick people, getting well, are helped by seeing their belongings in order—the yard clean, the sidewalks swept, brass knocker on the front door brightly polished. It made them feel they had more of a hold on life.

But the hired man, kind of looked down upon his superiors, and yet at the same time welcomed by them, wasn't just a crutch for the sick getting well.

He was also a kind of measurement of the wealth of the healthy. He did the jobs they could do themselves but were too busy to do or too proud to do in public.

Actually there wasn't much he couldn't do. He could and did mow the grass, fix a light plug, clean the yard, paint the house, or even carry out the ashes from the basement.

But in those days the hired man was generally an outdoor-working man. When he came indoors it was usually to eat in the kitchen.

He didn't work every day because he was a lone man, unmarried and not wanting to be married; and always knew, whether he wanted to earn it or not, there was a welcome for him in many kitchens.

Most wives were glad to feed him—and for several reasons. For one thing, he was different from their husbands. He was male and independent as their husbands were, and solitary. But at least, if he wouldn't obey a woman, he would listen to her, or appear to.

He took his time about his work. He would stop and talk to the kids. He would stay in a warm kitchen on a cold day and listen to a wife's complaints as long as she served food or poured coffee. The main thing was he was company.

He was never in a hurry, because he knew he wasn't going anywhere. He wasn't dependable in an emergency, because he didn't live by your emergency. But when he was actually there he was as dependable as your need required. He could stop a leaking faucet, coax a reluctant handle of a bathroom fixture back into action, even weed gardens though he planted nothing himself.

Whatever happened to the hired man?

He did like everybody else has tried to do in the middle of the 20th century. He specialized. He married and had his own offspring. His ears belong to his own wife, his play time to his own children.

Today one hired man is hired to fix the television set. Another hired man is hired to fix one part of the plumbing, and still another to meet another plumbing problem. A fourth hired man can repair short circuits and is an authority on light bulbs, up to 100 watts.

In an age of specialization the only true all-around hired man in a home is the housewife herself. This is why, if a husband came home at midday, he might find his wife in the kitchen all alone and talking to herself.

Who else is there to listen to her? The hired man has become so specialized and expensive she can't afford to hire him merely as an audience, even if he sits there eating free food.

What happened to the old-fashioned hired man? He went thataway.

MODERN NEEDLEPOINT—Tiny, but important in the field of electronics, are these "semiconductors" being given a solder dipping at the Hughes Aircraft Co. plant in Los Angeles. The hatpinlike items do the same work as much larger vacuum tubes and play a major role in the miniaturization of electronics equipment so essential to guided missiles. They are also expected to find increasing use in household appliances, power tools and the like.

St. Louis Teachers, School Board Reach Agreement on Wages

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A lengthy wage dispute between teachers in the city's 34 public schools and the East St. Louis Board of Education has ended with the board's acceptance of a compromise proposal.

The Executive Council of Local 1220 of the East St. Louis Federation of Teachers had been authorized last Sept. 12 to call a strike if negotiations broke down.

The board also voted yesterday to recognize Local 1220 as the official bargaining agent for the 600 teachers in the district.

A $50 annual pay increase will be given the teachers in addition to the present $100 under the agreement. Teachers with master's degrees will receive a $100 increase. The wage hikes are retroactive to Sept. 1.

Salaries now range from $3,650 to $5,350 for teachers without degrees, $3,800 to $5,800 for those with bachelor's degrees and $4,100 to $6,100 for those with master's degrees.

Both Local 1220 and the East St. Louis Education Assn. had claimed majority representation of the teachers. Local 1220 won a special election Oct. 16.

Tiptonites Had Hunting Trip Into Canada

By Mrs. T. W. Miller

TIPTON — Jim Prestage and Andy Hainen are home from a three-weeks' hunting trip in the Canadian Rockies that took them a total distance of 5,400 miles. Crossing the border at Montana their headquarters were at Clara's Home and Calgary, Alberta, Canada. Going up they went through the Dakotas and on the home trip through Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, South Dakota and Iowa. They were accompanied by Jim's brother, Dick Prestage and Chick Moore, both of Battle Creek, Mich. The foursome did a lot of bird hunting but snow in the mountains prevented them driving up for bear and elk. The Tipton sportsmen brought back 85 birds, including Hungarian partridges, short-tailed grouse, ducks and prairie chickens.

A check forger recently made the rounds in Tipton and cashed two checks each for $59. The checks were allegedly stolen from the Oberman Manufacturing Co. in Jefferson City.

'Explore With Books' Chosen As Slogan for National Week

"Explore With Books" is the slogan which has been chosen to highlight the 39th annual National Children's Book Week starting Nov. 17 and extending through Nov. 23. The purpose of Book Week is to focus attention on the importance of good books for children.

The Sedalia Public Library is participating in the observance by extending an invitation to all boys and girls in the area to visit the children's room and be introduced to the fun of reading good books. Books can play a vital part in the life of the growing child and Book Week emphasizes the value of bringing children and good books together early.

Highlight of the event will be a week-long display in the children's room of new books for children of all ages.

Children's Librarian Mrs. Camilla Walch Wilson said both children and parents are urged to visit the library during Book Week.

"Seeing the new children's books on display will also help many people to select interesting titles for Christmas gifts," she said.

Book Week was founded in 1919 by Franklin K. Mathews, chief Boy Scout librarian, who suggested the idea to the American Booksellers Association. The idea grew quickly and Book Week has been observed ever since.

At Spin of the Dial

Amazing 'Mechanical Brain' Will Be in Telephone System

An amazing "mechanical brain" that goes into action at the spin of a telephone dial wheel is being installed in the new telephone central office building in Sedalia.

The machine plays an important part in direct distance dialing, the new service that will enable Sedalia telephone users with one and two-party non-coin service to dial many of their own long distance calls.

The equipment, called Automatic Message Accounting, is being installed as part of the $3,000,000 program that will bring both local and long distance dialing to Sedalia this winter. N. B. Pitcairn, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., today described the mechanical marvel.

"A.M.A." Pitcairn's easier way to say Automatic Message Accounting, is a hook-up of several accurate mechanical devices that automatically record billing information on all calls dialed to exchanges outside the local calling area.

"The new system is one of the most significant telephone developments ever introduced," Pitcairn said. "Without it, direct distance dialing would not be possible."

"A. M. A." Pitcairn's easier way one of several such installations in Missouri, the others having been completed in just the last few years.

Pitcairn said telephone customers will be able to send A.M.A. equipment into action merely by dialing any one of thousands of telephones that will be within reach by direct distance dialing.

"Its mechanical brain will include a tape-perforating machine to record billing information in the form of Braille-like symbols punched into a roll of paper," Pitcairn said.

"The equipment records the telephone number that is dialed and the telephone number from which the long distance call is placed. It records the length of the call, from the time the other party answers until you hang up."

Survey Shows Women Are Setting Up Sewing Corners

SEWING CORNER... Curtained area in bedroom.

By DO ROE
Associated Press men's Editor

With today's compact houses, the old-fashioned sewing room has given way to the television room or the family room. As a result, women are setting up sewing corners all over the house, according to the results of a recent survey.

Among the 40 million women in the United States who sew, the most popular room for the purpose is the bedroom, with 30.4 per cent, or some 12 million women, operating from there. Next in popularity seems to be the dining room, scoring 22.3 per cent; then the living room, with 22 per cent; then the kitchen, with 13 per cent, and finally the separate sewing room, with only 12.3 per cent.

Obviously, women who sew enough to need a special sewing area keep up to date on the latest thing in sewing machines and cabinets, with demand high at present for the new slant-needle automatic machines. They also need a sewing machine cabinet that will blend into the decor of the room and an arrangement where sewing equipment can be stowed away out of sight when not in use.

Local sewing center experts suggest a bedroom sewing corner, specially designed recently in connection with the introduction of the new automatic sewing machines. No expensive construction is involved, as the basic ingredients consist of a curtained area for storage and a handsome sewing cabinet.

For good design coordination, the curtained storage area should match the drapes used at the windows. The fabrics selected for the model room were dark green-textured American viscose rayon for curtains and drapes, harmonizing with a bedspread of bold blue and green checks.

One side of the curtained area is made of ordinary unpainted bookcases, for convenient and easily-visible storage. The other side is open, for storing dress form, ironing board and other bulky accessories.

The sewing machine is housed in an Early American cabinet, with authentic hardware and tooled legs. The honey-toned maple wood accents the rich green of the draperies and blends with the other furnishings in the room.

When the area is closed, the drawn curtains become a continuation of the window area and the closed cabinet doubles as an occasional table, brightened by a pot of ivy in a copper container.

Of course, the home seamstress who owns a new automatic sewing machine will not be content with a sewing corner featuring only straight stitching. The decorative touch in the model room is seen in the seat cover for the sewing stool, which features decorative stitching in a neat geometric design, looking like hand embroidery but quickly done simply by dialing the desired stitch on the machine.

Blair Ready For Battle He States

JEFFERSON CITY — Gov. James T. Blair said today the state will be glad to accommodate sheriff Orion J. Litzinger of St. Louis County if the sheriff wants to take an investigation of the sheriff into court.

The Republican sheriff is under investigation by Pros. Atty. Edward W. Garnholz of St. Louis County in connection with reports the sheriff charged both the state and professional bondsmen for returning bail jumpers to the county.

The sheriff has filed suit in circuit court asking that the governor, Garnholz, State Atty. Gen. John Dalton and a bondsman be restrained from interfering with operations of his office.

Blair said today he and Dalton both feel that Garnholz is doing a good job in the investigation. "If Litzinger insists on dragging the state into court, we'll turn up—we'll be glad to accommodate him," the governor said.

The sheriff went to Jefferson City yesterday and found Blair absent when he dropped by the governor's office. Mrs. Sammy Casey, a secretary in the office, said Litzinger dictated this note to her:

"You tell the governor that I did not come here to apologize. I do not regard this (suit) as a challenge to Gov. Blair, Attorney General Dalton or our prosecuting attorney."

"I want them to know I do not feel that I have done anything dishonest,"

The sheriff, contacted after his return to St. Louis, said he actually meant to apologize to the governor for naming him in the suit. He indicated he was trying to reach the governor last night to clarify the message.

The governor said he was available all last night if Litzinger wanted to telephone him.

Quick Shift

NEW YORK — The quickest switch in plans for a Broadway production this season hit the cast of "A Soft Touch."

The company, after two weeks of rehearsal, had its first complete run-through at a morning session, went off to lunch. When they returned an hour later, the sponsors announced that "A Soft Touch" had been suspended indefinitely.

The backers felt that the script of the farce required such extensive reworking that repairs could not be made during rehearsals.

Seven years of drought dropped the Harvey County, Kan., water table 62 feet below ground level; six rainy months in 1957 raised it 24 feet.

TOURIST VIEW—Hardly a vacation spot, grim Alcatraz prison, perched on solid rock in the middle of San Francisco Bay, is one of the must-see sights for tourists visiting the Redwood Empire. The maximum security prison looks almost pleasant in this view, as it is framed by two schooners. Most of the visitors are satisfied to view Alcatraz from this distance, and no doubt all of the inmates would be, too.

Strike Against Railroad Set For Nov. 22

CHICAGO — Fifteen non-operating unions have set Nov. 22 for a strike against the Santa Fe Railroad in a long-standing dispute over what the unions term the railroad's refusal to approve a union shop.

Union officials planned to meet today to discuss strike procedure.

The strike date was announced yesterday by George E. Leighty, president of the Railroad Telegraphers Union and chairman of the 15 unions' joint negotiating committee. Some 42,000 union employees had previously authorized the strike.

The announcement, which followed a meeting of union leaders, came on the heels of a Washington conference between union and Santa Fe officials. The Washington talks, under the auspices of the National (Railway) Mediation Board, failed to bring any agreement.

Fred G. Gurley, chief executive officer of the Santa Fe, said the Washington conference adjourned until Monday, at which time it will be resumed in Chicago.

"There were several proposals considered in Washington," he said. "One of the Santa Fe's suggestions was decidedly more favorable to the organization than those discussed in the Chicago conferences a few weeks ago."

Leighty said all passenger trains in operation at the strike deadline—8 a.m. EST., next Friday—will finish their runs. Freight trains would be halted at their next terminals.

The union shop agreement, which makes union membership a condition of employment, has been the only point in dispute. The unions said the Santa Fe is the only major railroad in the United States without such an agreement.

Most of the mica produced in the United States comes from the western part of North Carolina.

Real Life Base for "Fair Game"

NEW YORK — The new Broadway play "Fair Game," its author admits, was based on the true life adventures of a Chicago divorcee.

Sam Locke says he became intrigued with dramatic possibilities when he met the woman when she came here to study for a college degree. Locke told her that her skill at handling romantic males should make a good short story.

"When I said that," Locke adds, "she fired back 'I'll make a play or nothing.' That's how 'Fair Game' came into being."

Fulton to Vote On Annexation December 3

FULTON, Mo. — Mayor Edward H. Estes has set Tuesday, Dec. 3, as the date for a special election on a proposal to extend the city limits from a quarter to an eighth of a mile in all directions.

The annexation, if approved, would be the largest single expansion of the city limits in Fulton's history. A simple majority will be required for approval.

Judge W. M. Dinwiddie last Tuesday ruled in favor of the city in a suit brought by landowners in areas southwest and north of the present city limits. They objected to the proposal, which originally would have doubled the city's area. It later was amended by the city council.

The present plan calls for annexation of land extending a quarter of a mile beyond the present city limits on the west, east and north, and from one-eighth to one-quarter of a mile on the south.

No Milk Inquisition Is Meant, Committee Chairman Announces

JEFFERSON CITY — The chairman of a special legislative committee said yesterday the group was not conducting an "inquisition" into the production and sale of milk in Missouri.

Instead, Sen. Albert M. Spradling (D) of Cape Girardeau said, "We want to promote the dairy industry in Missouri. If we can make 'em drink more milk, that's what we want to do."

The committee was set up last spring at the same time the Legislature passed a bill to prevent big dairies from invading areas of little dairies by cutting prices below cost. Gov. James T. Blair vetoed the bill as unworkable.

Witnesses before the committee variously recommended a tighter state dairy law with a uniform milk inspection provision, retention of State Health Division inspection, control of products competing with milk and promotional campaigns.

At the next year, Jan. 10, the attorney general's office and independent milk producers will be asked to explore the controversial milk price fixing problem.

Court Upholds Trial Of Connelly, Caudle

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals said Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, former high officials in the Truman administration, had a fair trial and upheld their conviction on charges of conspiring to defraud the government.

Connelly and Caudle were accused of using their influence to block prosecution of Irving Sachs, St. Louis shoe distributor convicted of income tax evasion. Sachs was fined $40,000 but did not go to prison.

Caudle was head of the justice department's tax division and Connelly was White House appointments secretary under Truman. Caudle was fired by Truman for having outside interests incompatible with his office duties.

RESOURCEFUL SWABIE—Lt. (jg) Moses T. Sevier seems to be following the old military maxim about living off the land at McMurdo Sound, where he's stationed with "Operation Deepfreeze III." Leaving his gunset hut "hotel," he pauses in front of its fancy plywood front and dips his toothbrush in the snow for a quick brush-off. Spring has come to Antarctica, but we don't really believe it's as warm down there as the shirt-sleeved sailor makes it appear.

Reports Plans to Ask Congress for More Foreign Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration reportedly plans to ask Congress for $4.2 billion in foreign aid funds next year, about $1.4 billion more than it was able to get this year.

Informal sources said this initial estimate of aid requirements was sent to the Budget Bureau, although various factors still must be considered in arriving at a final figure.

One important factor will be the meeting next month in Paris of the heads of Atlantic alliance governments, and the amount of money expected to be committed for foreign aid as a result of the meeting.

Coroner's Jury Rules No Criminal Liability In Death of Student

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—There was no criminal liability in the death of Roland A. Hall, 24, Kansas City, a Washington State College graduate student killed while hunting Nov. 10, a coroner's jury ruled last night.

Rodney P. Hahn, 25, also a WSC student, told the jury of firing at what he thought was a deer and then stumbling onto Hall's body when searching for the animal he thought had been shot. Hall, Hahn and two companions were hunting in northern Spokane County when the accident occurred.

Hall's widow said her husband had worn a yellow hunting hat because he heard that color was the easiest to see in the woods. Hall, who was wearing khaki clothing, was offered a red sweat shirt but it was too small for him to put on, Hahn said.

Lions Get Final Report on Aiding Tornado Victims

Missouri Lions have received a final report on activities of the Grandview, Hickman Mills and Kansas City Lions Club in their assistance to victims of the tornado in the Jackson County area last spring.

It was last May while the Lions were holding their annual convention in St. Louis that word was received of a tornado which had struck Hickman Mills, Martin City and Ruskin Heights. At the convention it was announced the Lions would send relief to those areas.

Through statewide contributions the Lions Tornado Relief Committee received approximately $3,000. Seventeen families received individual checks and one check was presented to a church group in Martin City whose church was destroyed with no insurance.

The Sedalia Lions Club was one of the many contributors to the fund.

International Counsellor C. V. Buckholz, general chairman of the committee, reported, "The checks were delivered in person by members of the committee. The expressions and tears on faces of recipients were enough to let us know we had helped the proper persons."

St. Louis Alderman Hire Negro Consultant

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A majority of St. Louis aldermen have voted to hire as the aldermanic board's consultant on legislative research a Negro lawyer who once headed the St. Louis branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of colored People.

The vote to hire David M. Grant, who was a leader in the successful campaign to defeat a city charter proposal, came at a caucus of Democratic aldermen yesterday. Grant has served as an assistant circuit attorney, an assistant city counselor and as a provisional city judge.

His salary and duties have not been definitely decided but one alderman said the pay would probably be near $10,000 annually. Grant will succeed Eugene P. Walsh, who resigned two months ago.

MOOSE AUXILIARY DONATION—Mrs. Lee Robb, chairman of the publicity committee for the Moose Auxiliary, presents a check for $30.50 to Mrs. William Hardin, chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy drive. The check represented proceeds from a benefit card party held by the Moose Auxiliary publicity committee. Members of the committee are Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Whitely, Mrs. John Ellison, Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Albert Lindsey.

Mollie Potter

Ben H. and L. J. Potter. Two sons and a daughter died several years ago, D. H. Potter, R. L. Potter and Mrs. Add Johnson.

Besides her four children she has ten grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

"Grandma Potter," as she is familiarly called by everyone who knows her, is a student of the Bible. Before her eyesight began to fail recently, she always read a chapter of the Bible each day. One of her favorite Scriptural chapters is the 23rd Psalm.

"I have lived by that," she said, and recited, "The Lord is my shepherd and I shall not want, and I believe the Lord has looked after me all these years because I have lived by that."

She loves to dwell on the great changes over the century since her childhood days and her mind is a perfect treasure chest of memories and reminiscences. She likes the modern way of living, still she says she was very happy in the years where there was a different way of living and few conveniences.

"People were just as happy then as they are now, if not more so," she remarked.

Her last visit to Sedalia was Mother's Day last May, when she attended the East Sedalia Baptist Church. At that time she was honored as the oldest mother in church and a special song was dedicated to her by several small girls. This incident is often recalled by her in talking with friends.

Recently she was ill and her doctor called on her. She said to him, "Dr. Pete (Dr. Pete Siegel), patch me up for my birthday," to which Dr. Pete replied "Sure, just as good as new," and her actions these past few days certainly indicate she is just about as good as new.

When asked by the reporter as to her age, she asked the newsman, "How old are you?" He replied "Just over 50." She said, "Young man, you are just beginning to live. Why, I don't even think about getting old, and I expect to be here a few more years."

She is in good physical and mental condition, both her eyesight has failed so that she cannot read her Bible, magazines and newspapers, which she always enjoyed. But she still feels greatly blessed with her children and grandchildren, doing everything they can to make her happy.

"I'm looking forward to November 23rd, my birthday, and to Sunday when all my hundreds of friends can come out and visit with us," she concluded.

Oriental Music Is Theme Of Wednesday's Program

Wednesday afternoon, members and guests of Helen G. Steele Music Club, visited the Orient on their "Around the World Tour" with Mrs. A. J. Harlan, Mrs. Emmett Fairfax and Mrs. J. W. Watts as the guides.

Mrs. Harlan, chairman of the day, introduced by Mrs. Al Miles, program chairman, read a paper on Oriental Music prepared by Mrs. Everett White, which gave some of the history of music.

The oldest countries in the world such as Egypt, India and China trace their music directly to divine origin. Music was considered a gift from the gods, and therefore to be used with reverence by man. In 200 B.C. the musical library of China was destroyed by Emperor Tsin-Hwang, and for many centuries music in China was a lost art, but with the rehabilitation of music came the development of the seven tone scale. Now there are between 60 and 80 keys, 130 musical instruments.

Eight sounds or substances are used to classify music. First, the sound of stone; second, metal; third, silk; fourth, bamboo; fifth, wood; sixth, skin; seventh, the gourd; eighth, the substance of earth.

The musical part of the program was heralded by the clanging of parts of the Chinese gong. Each one taking part in the program wore authentic oriental costumes.

Mrs. G. B. Carter, Mrs. Jack Herndon and Mrs. Stanley Fisher sang "Flower Drums," "San Min Chu I" which is the Chinese national anthem and "The Road Building Song," all with the Chinese Music arranged by Modol. Mrs. Sid Kennon, who was the fourth member of the group to form a quartette, was ill and unable to be there.

Mrs. J. W. Watts, pianist, played: "Song of the Chinese Wind-bells" by King and "A Japanese Sunset" by Deppen.

"Old Chinese Melody" was played by Marilyn Goldman and Jaydeane Young, flutists.

Mrs. Emmett Fairfax, soprano, sang "Bamboo Flute" arranged by Modol, with Marilyn Goldman accompanying on the flute. Mrs. Fairfax also sang "One Fine Day" by Puccini.

A piano-duo was presented by Mrs. William Faulkner and Mrs. John Rundlett. They played "Rickshaw Boy" by Anson and "In a Chinese Temple Garden" by Kettelbey.

Mrs. Robert Seelen, contralto, sang "Mountain High Valley Low" by Scott, "Lullaby" by Bantock, and "Soyonara" by Berlin.

Piano-duo by Mrs. William Faulkner and Mrs. John Rundlett, "Japanese Sandman" by Whiting arranged by Mercer.

Accompanists were Mrs. A. R. Beach, Mrs. John Rundlett and Mrs. J. W. Watts.

Percussion by D'Anne Brougner. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president. In a short business session it was decided by the club to participate in the "Know Your America Week."

A memorial service for Mrs. Overton Gorrell was held. Mrs. A. H. Bratton presented Mrs. Herbert Schrankler, who read the poem, "Ever Near." Mrs. Bratton then lead in the singing "In the Garden." Mrs. Paul Berthouex was the accompanist.

Mrs. William Hurlbut announced the next meeting will be on Nov. 27, at which time Russell Webber, American artist and composer will be presented.

For program of the day, "Music of the Orient," the club house was decorated with beautiful oriental treasures and decorations. From the moment the front door was entered the occidental world was left behind. One of the tables in the front hall held many interesting things from the Orient.

Each person who entered was given a tiny paper parasol to further carry out the mood of the afternoon. Large Chinese lanterns, lighted the club house and oriental pictures were on the walls. At the back of the stage a large piece of tapestry was hung. Mrs. Harlan explained this was part of a Buddha priest's robe and was more than one hundred years old. Each piano was draped with an oriental hanging and there was even a doll collection on the mantel.

Receiving hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Clayton Haire, Mrs. Fred Hulse and Mrs. Sam Ross.

Mrs. Harlan expressed appreciation to her co-chairmen, Mrs. Fairfax and Mrs. Watts, members of the cast; Mrs. Ed McLaughlin, Mrs. Cline Cain and daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Yeater, Mrs. John Pehlman, Mrs. Cecil Bohon and Mrs. George Hoffman for the costumes and properties; Mrs. Bill Klang, who designed the program covers and to the guest musician, Mrs. Robert Seelen, Marilyn Goldman, Jaydeane Young and D'Anne Brougner.

Contest Winners Are Announced

The Houstonia Civic Club met at the school Monday night with nine members present. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer. It was moved the insignia painted by Mr. Berryman be adopted and the colors yellow and gold and black be the club colors. The insignia will be placed on the welcome sign being painted and placed at the southwest entrance to town.

A report of the trash pickup was given and in the contest the winners were Sammie Schouten first, and Jimmie Rissler second. In the slogans, Gary Boulware first; pictures, Jackie Dillon first; letters, David Shireman first; and stories, Marilyn Smiley first.

There will not be a Christmas contest with prizes given this year but the club wishes to urge everyone to decorate with the theme, "Put Christ Back in Christmas." An amateur contest was discussed and a committee was appointed to study the possibilities for having one.

'Mom' Burger Begins Her Richly Deserved Leisure

Mrs. Mary Burger, right, mends cassocks with a friend, Mrs. J. D. Bush, for her son, the Rev. Robert Burger.

By MARY KAY FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent
SHAWNEE, Kan. — "Mom" Burger, 58-year-old mother of 14 and godmother to many others, is closing up her big house here with its dormitory-like second floor and cherished memories.

All her children have left home, 10 to enter religious life and four to marry.

Nine years ago when Mrs. Mary Burger received the Papal Bene Merenti medal in recognition of outstanding motherhood, national attention was focused on her and her family which lived in their 14-room Kansas City, Kan., home, since destroyed by flood. At that time, nine of the Burger children still were home.

The last three children at home have just left — two to enter a convent and the other to enter a preparatory seminary. The busy mother now is starting a more slowly paced and different kind of life — housekeeping for a priest son, the Rev. Robert Burger, pastor of St. Patrick's church in Osage City, Kan.

She has one big apprehension in starting her new duties — cooking. "I'm out of practice," she confessed.

Garcia Rival Concedes Defeat In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—President Carlos P. Garcia clinched the Philippine election today when his only serious rival, Liberal Jose Yulo, conceded defeat.

Yulo conceded after counting of about 70 per cent of Tuesday's ballots showed Garcia ahead by more than half a million votes. Liberal Congressman Diosdado Macapagal continued to increase his lead in the vice presidential race.

Unofficial returns gave Garcia, the Nacionalista party nominee, 1,599,458 votes and Yulo 1,091,399. Other presidential candidates were far out of the running.

Macapagal had 1,692,434 votes to 1,408,410 for House Speaker Jose B. Laurel Jr., Garcia's running mate.

In congressional contests, the latest count indicated 90 seats for the Nacionalistas, 20 for the Liberals, one for the Nationalist Citizens party and one for an Independent candidate.

How to Pay For Higher Defense Cost?

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—More guns can be sold to the American public more easily today than less butter. But the considerable increase in defense spending which President Eisenhower says must come and which most Americans probably approve will have to be paid for. And the three ways of paying for it will bear on both individuals and business firms, either directly or indirectly.

One way would be to keep with in the present budget plans by paring sums for various domestic programs.

For example, the Agriculture Department puts its spending on its various farm programs including price supports at 5½ billion dollars a year—a figure which this year's large crops aren't likely to trim. Any paring back of such supports will be hard to put through Congress.

Veterans' outlays also run around five billion dollars a year. Less butter for either the farmers or the veterans would plague not only them but also the merchants and manufacturers with whom they deal.

A second way to pay for more defense would be to raise taxes. To do this, Congress probably would need to convince the public of the immediate peril to security.

The third way would be, as President Eisenhower hinted in his Oklahoma City speech, to return to deficit financing, raising the federal debt limit, and running the Treasury in the red again.

Deficit financing admittedly is an inflationary measure, one of the classic reasons why prices rise. The public already was deeply concerned over the rising cost of living. Another assault on the purchasing power of the dollar would be felt quickly by consumers and also by manufacturers and would lead to campaigns for further and greater hikes in wage scales.

Any of the three ways, therefore, end up in meaning less butter; less butter for those benefiting from various government domestic programs, less butter for those paying the higher taxes, less butter for those who in time might find their dollars buying fewer goods.

But the need to catch up with the Russians is widely accepted. And when the American public is convinced that Washington has found the right way to do it without throwing money around needlessly, there is likely to be little grumbling about the sacrifices that go with it.

The Pentagon is reported to feel that the increased spending will run about one or two billion dollars a year.

Missiles Seen As Weapon Against Costly Forest Fires

LOW-LEVEL LIQUID BOMBING is used against a forest fire by a Forestry Service plane armed with chemicals.

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Plans are taking shape to use missiles to battle forest fires.

Forestry Service officials believe the development of an unmanned aerial weapon which could be loaded with special fire extinguishing chemicals would provide a powerful defense against the annual costly timber blazes.

Already meetings have been held between the Forestry Service and missile manufacturers concerning the project. And Merle S. Low, director of Forestry's division of fire control, declares, "I think the idea has definite possibilities."

Lowden says the Forestry Service's use of the air weapon hinges on the development of an economically practical, short range missile and the right kind of chemical with which to arm it. It will be up to further research to determine whether the weapon will be a guided or unguided ballistic-type missile.

The fire control official believes it could best be used to help knock out small fires in remote areas before they expand into raging infernos.

The problem of stopping fires from spreading in distant mountainous regions is one of the main reasons for the growing emphasis being placed on airpower by DFC officials.

Plans for the anti-blaze missile are only one example of their constant efforts to find new ways to fight fire from the sky.

The most dramatic new tactic used by the Forestry Service's rapidly growing air arm is a low level liquid bombing technique. Planes loaded with a special chemical mixture swoop down to between 50 and 150 feet above a forest fire. Then they open their bomb bay doors and drench the burning area with the flame smothering liquid.

Although this does not guarantee that the fire is out for good, it's a big help in delaying the onslaught of flames until ground crews arrive to finish the job.

These operations require the highest degree of flying skill and split second timing. Sometimes bombing attacks must be made inside a canyon. Minor miscalculations of speed and distance could cause the pilots to crash into the rocky canyon walls. Tall timber surrounding the fire areas is also a serious menace.

Another job for aircraft is to help prevent lightning fires. Ex-proper conditions this will cause the clouds to break up, thereby hindering the occurrence of lightning.

Helicopters have proved to be an invaluable aid to the fire fighters. They are used to lay hundreds of feet of fire hose across rough terrain and to deliver workers to the scene of a blaze.

Plans are in the mill to perfect a precision liquid bombing technique for the whirlybirds.

When thick clusters of trees prevent helicopters from landing firemen, a call may be sent out for smoke jumpers. Throughout the years these highly trained, specially equipped parachute teams have played an extremely important and hazardous part in combating forest fires.

Planes also are used to patrol forests in order to spot fires as soon as they break out. And last year a million and a half tons of fire equipment and more than 15,000 workers were airlifted in timber saving operations.

Right now the Forestry Service owns about 30 planes and one helicopter. Many additional aircraft are obtained from commercial agencies which have contracts with the government.

Although the Forestry Service has used planes to some extent for about 40 years, recent events in the nation's forests have sparked the increased use of airpower.

Record timber production and the mushrooming tourist business have skyrocketed the chances of fires breaking out. The speed and special chemical solution. Undermanned maneuverability of airplanes make

Airliner Trip Leaves Blind Youth Up In Clouds

By MARY KAY FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — As the airliner readied for takeoff, 10-year-old Donnie Linenberger of Garden City, Kan., held tightly to his seat as if he expected his turn to fall out. It was a beautiful morning for flying, but Donnie did not turn his eyes to the window to watch the ground disappear.

As the youngster's adult seatmate, I had planned not to watch out the window either. I wanted to close my eyes so I could better feel the takeoff as would Donnie and 29 of his schoolmates.

But Donnie changed my plan. "Tell me everything you see when we take off," he demanded, excitedly.

It wasn't that Donnie was afraid to look out the window. He and his classmates are blind.

After fastening his seat belt unassisted and carefully examining movable parts around his seat, the boy asked with eager anticipation: "When are we going to take off?"

Although the pilot, Capt. Earl Lindsly, answered that with an announcement over the public address system that takeoff would be in about five minutes, the frequency of Donnie's query about takeoff time increased as rapidly as the minutes decreased.

Capt. Lindsly rode in a plane for an hour with his eyes closed in preparation for his commentary during the flight, which was arranged by TWA as a treat for the children from the Kansas School for the Blind here on suggestion of a Kansas City Kansan columnist.

As the plane turned to taxi along the runway at Municipal Airport in Kansas City, Mo., Donnie asked, "Are we turning?" and then commented as the plane rolled down the runway. "This feels like a car."

Then came a barrage of questions: "What are we doing now?" "When do we take off?" "I like this." "What kind of plane are we in?" "When are we going to take off?" "How many engines does this plane have?" "I can't wait till we take off." "How long?"

Every sound alerted the lad. On hearing the engines of a big TWA Constellation nearby during ground warmup, he asked, "Is that another plane taking off?" and hearing a signal chime he wanted to know if an ice cream vendor was nearby.

Then, when the engines of the plane in which he was a passenger were opened to takeoff power, Donnie asked, a bit startled: "What's that?"

The pilot was answering that one.

"It's a good noise to us," Capt. Lindsly was saying. "It sounds right, so that means we soon will be in the air." He also explained that the ride along the runway was bumpy because "you might say an airplane is unhappy on the ground and happy in the air."

Donnie soon found that his plane truly was a happy one and clapping his hands, he gleefully shouted: "We're going up, yipee!"

I was telling him how the plane was rising above the tree tops; that it looked as if the river below barely was wide enough for wading and cars appeared so small it seemed you could step on them like bugs.

"Oh, we're climbing, I can tell," the boy interjected as Capt. Lindsly was explaining that the plane would climb to 2,500 feet and stay there for awhile before going to 4,000 feet for a 15-minute, 60-mile flight to Topeka and handshakes with Gov. George Docking.

"It feels like we aren't moving; are we really up in the sky like a bird?" Donnie asked, as the happy plane flew along smoothly.

"Do you know what a shadow is?" I asked. The child, who has been blind from birth, nodded.

"The little shadow of our plane following us on the ground looks

Notre Dame Snaps Sooners' Streak

Irish Line Holds OU to 98 Yards On Ground to Win 7-0

Oklahoma Misses Score For First Time In 123 Battles

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Oklahoma's all-time record of 47 straight football victories was shattered today by an underdog Notre Dame team that marched 80 yards in the closing minutes for the all-important touchdown and a 7-0 triumph.

Oklahoma, No. 2 ranked in the nation and an 18-point favorite, couldn't move against the rock-wall Notre Dame line and the Sooners saw another of its national records broken — scoring in 123 consecutive games.

The defeat was only the 9th for Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson since he became head coach at Oklahoma in 1947 and virtually ended any chance for the Sooners getting a third straight national championship.

Although the partisan, sellout crowd of 62,000 came out for a Roman holiday, they were stunned into silence as the Sooners were unable to pull their usual last-quarter winning touchdowns — a Wilkinson team trademark.

As the game ended when Oklahoma's desperation passing drive was cut off by an intercepted aerial, the crowd rose as one and suddenly gave the Notre Dame team a rousing cheer.

It was a far cry from last year when the Sooners ran over Notre Dame 40-0. The victory gave the Irish a 3-1 edge in the five year old series dating back to 1952.

The smashing, rocking Notre Dame line didn't permit the Sooners to get started either on the ground or in the air.

The Sooners were able to make only 96 yards on the ground and in the air just 47. Notre Dame, paced by its brilliant, 210-pound fullback Nick Pietrosante, rolled up 169. In the air, the Irish gained 79 yards hitting 9 of 20 passes, with Bob Williams doing most of the passing.

Notre Dame's lone touchdown drive, biting off short but consistent yardage against the Sooners' alternate team, carried from the 20 after an Oklahoma punt went into the end zone.

Time after time, Pietrosante picked up the necessary yard when he needed as the Irish smashed through the Oklahoma line. Notre Dame moved to the 8 and the Sooner first team came in to try to make the third Sooner goal line stand of the day.

Pietrosante smashed four yards through center and Dick Lynch was stopped for no gain. On the third down, Williams went a yard through center.

Then Lynch, crossed up the Sooners and rolled around his right end to score standing up. Monty Strickles converted to give Notre Dame the upset and to end collegiate football's longest winning streak.

The closest Oklahoma could get to Notre Dame's goal was in the first quarter when the Sooners, alternate team moved to the 13 before being held on downs.

In the third period, brilliant punting by first string halfback Clendon Thomas and alternate quarterback David Baker kept Notre Dame back on its own goal line but the Sooners could not capitalize.

Thomas set punts down on the Notre Dame 15 and 4 and Baker put them down on the 3 and 7 and waited for the breaks that have come the Sooners' way in the past to help them keep up their streak through 47 games.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THE 1957 high school football season seems to have been run through rather hurriedly, but it still is the middle of November. The Tigers in face of the "flu" and a few other handicaps didn't do too bad up to the present date, won five games and lost four with one more to play.

A three-way tie in the Central Missouri Conference was a little more than was anticipated at the opening of the season. A championship began to bloom in the early part of the season, especially after the defeat of the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia, but it wilted the following week when "Old Man Flu" took charge and out the jinx on the Tigers and they took a trouncing at Jefferson City.

Looking it over the Kewpies defeated Jefferson City, the Tigers beat Columbia, and the Jays beat the Tigers, and all three of them defeated the other teams in the conference, thus the three-handle championship honors.

It is doubtful if the Tigers would have beat the Jays anyway on their home gridiron. The Jays were primed and cocked for the Tigers, as was their homecoming, but had the local boys been in a little better physical condition I doubt if the score would have been so one-sided. We'll always have in the back of our minds that maybe if the flu hadn't hit we might have won. It's nice to have such good thoughts anyway.

Now the sports picture is changing in the high schools. It is turning to basketball and Coach Howard Glavin has been having his problems. But he isn't saying anything yet, keeping rather quiet and holding some rather stiff workouts for the players and prospects for the 1957 Tiger Cage Varsity.

Smith-Cotton has some good material up there and they may turn out to have a much better squad than it anticipated at the present date. If the boys have it in them, Glavin will get it out and working.

WITH the coming of Tuesday night, the Tigers will be taking on a real rival in the Raytown Blue Jays. Their game scheduled for Nov. 1, was postponed because of the flu and the local boys were unable to dress out a squad for the game, hence it was rescheduled for this week.

Raytown is always out to cut the Tigers tail off in football and they'll be after them again this week.

However, from comparative scoring, it appears as if the

World's Fastest Miler Is Named Britain's Top Athlete of 1957

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Derek Ibbotson, world's fastest miler, was selected today as Britain's top athlete of 1957.

The British Amateur Athletic Assn. also named Mike Lindsay, now in the United States, the best junior athlete of the year. Lindsay, 19-year-old London schoolboy, won the British senior discus championship with a throw of 166 feet, six inches.

Elias Gilbert of the United States took the John Thornton award for the outstanding high hurdles performance in Britain. Gilbert, from Dayton, Ohio, ran the 110 meter hurdles in 13.9 on July 19 while on a tour of Britain.

Ibbotson bettered the world mark for the mile with a 3:57.2 clocking July 19 in London.

Ibbotson received the C. N. Jackson Memorial Cup as the outstanding athlete in the United Kingdom and the Harvey Memorial Trophy as the outstanding champion of the year.

Jackson Is Not Ready To Quit Ring Despite His Manager's Urging

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson's manager wants the New York heavyweight to hang up his gloves but the fighter's mother said today that Tommy isn't washed up.

Manager Lippe Breitbart agreed with the New York State Athletic Commission that the Hurricane should quit the ring. The commission urged the manager and the fighter yesterday to consider the voluntary retirement of Jackson or the commission would "re-evaluate" Jackson's physical ability.

Jackson absorbed terrific licks in his past two fights with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and leading contender Eddie Machen.

Rice Hands Texas A&M Their First Loss 7-6

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP)—Rice's Owls combined a mighty defense with the fancy work of two senior quarterbacks, Frank Ryan and King Hill, to upset Texas A&M, the nation's No. 1 team, with a 7-6 defeat in a thrilling battle before a crowd of over 72,000 today.

The Owls, seven-point underdogs, drove 79 yards in the second period for a touchdown and then stopped three A&M threats inside the 20-yard line before yielding the Aggies a score on the second play of the final period.

S-H Loses To Wheatland In Tourney

The Sacred Heart Gremlins lost to Wheatland 58-65 Saturday night in the consolation playoffs of the Warsaw Invitational Tournament in spite of a sparkling scoring performance by Don Ressel. Ressel pumped in 14 field goals and three free throws for a total of 31 points.

Wheatland outscored the Gremlins 13-11 in the first quarter for a two point advantage. They surged ahead in the second period by outscoring Sacred Heart 20-14 for a half time score of 33-25.

In the third quarter, the Gremlins gained four points on the winners by scoring 14 points and limiting Wheatland to 10. Wheatland bounced right back in the fourth stanza, though, with 22 tallies to 19 for Sacred Heart for a final score of 65 to 58.

Terry Menefee followed Ressel in the scoring column for the Gremlins with 10 points. Lee Parsons led Wheatland with 20 points with Bill Driskill dumping in 15 to come in second best. Two other Wheatland players scored in double figures.

In Friday night's game Ressel again put on a scoring exhibition with 33 points to lift the Gremlins over Humansville 74 to 65.

Buckeyes Rose Bowl Bound

Ohio State Nabs Big Ten Title With Win Over Iowa

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 16 (AP)—Third-string fullback Bob White took Ohio State on a personally conducted tour to the Western Conference championship and the Rose Bowl today.

The 207-pound sophomore from Covington, Ky., gained 157 yards in 22 tries and scored the winning touchdown as Ohio came from behind twice to dethrone Iowa's Hawkeyes in a 17-13 thriller.

With Iowa leading 13-10 late in the final period, White carried the ball on seven of eight carries for 65 yards in a 63-yard drive to the final touchdown. White scored the winning marker on a five-yard crash over tackle, but the five yards reached all the way to the Big Ten throne room and Pasadena.

Don Clark, Ohio's ace ball carrier and top scorer, did not see action, but White more than took up the slack as he thrilled a crowd of 82,936, largest ever to fill the Buckeye Stadium, with his tremendous up - the - middle ball carrying.

The victory was Ohio's sixth straight in conference play and the defeat was Iowa's first against four league wins and a tie.

Regardless of the outcome of next week's Buckeye game with Michigan, Ohio is certain of its third Western Conference championship in the past four years and its fourth trip to the Rose Bowl. In that post-season game the Bucks have a 2-1 record.

Ohio State got away to a 3-0 lead in the first period on Don Sitherin's 15 - yard field goal which ended a 74-yard march, all on the ground. After that the two teams traded touchdowns. Iowa went ahead 6-3 in the first period on an eight-yard scoring pass from quarterback Randy Duncan to end Bob Prescott. The drive covered 66 yards in 10 plays.

A 16-play, 79-yard ground march with quarterback Frank Kremen scoring from the 1 made it Ohio State 10, Iowa 6 early in the second period.

In the third, Iowa went 71 yards in 11 plays with Duncan plunging a yard and then came Ohio's big fourth-period spurge to wrap it up.

The Otterville High School boys basketball team rode to a 58 to 43 victory over Prairie Home Friday night on the scoring punch of Charles Cline who dumped in 22 points.

Otterville was never too seriously pressed in the tilt played on the Prairie Home court as they outscored the home team in every quarter except the last and Prairie Home gained by only one point in that period.

In the first quarter Otterville took a 13-8 lead and added three more points in the second period by outscoring Prairie Home 15-12 for a half time score of 28-20.

The winners gained their biggest margin in the third stanza by tallying 14 points and holding their opponents to six. In the last period Prairie Home made a strong bid to overtake Otterville but fell way short as they scored 17 to Otterville's 16 for a final score of 58-43.

Cline's 22 points was high for the game. Paul Watring was second high scorer for Otterville with 12. Meyer led the Prairie Home attack with 17 points.

In the girls basketball game

Prairie Home's team saved face for the boys by scoring a 33-28 victory over Otterville's girls. Simmons led the winners with 17 points and Judy Page was Otterville's big punch with 21.

Field Goal Gives K-State 23-21 Win Over Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP)—Underdog Kansas State unleashed a magnificent ground game good for 410 yards to humble the Missouri Tigers 23-21 in a Big Eight Conference football game played before 20,000 here today.

A field goal from 13 yard line by halfback Ben Grosse in the third quarter proved the winning points, although the visiting Wildcats had to come from behind on a 52 yard drive in the fourth period to win it.

Except for the brilliant play of fullback Hank Kuhlmann, Missouri was a decidedly beaten team today. The defeat left Missouri with a 3-2 conference record and sets up their season finale with Kansas at Lawrence next Saturday as a battle for second place in the final standings. Kansas State completed its league play with two victories against four losses.

Kansas State scored first midway of the opening quarter in the lively scoring contest. Quarterback Leo Krull went over from the one-yard line after the Wildcats got possession on a fumble deep in Missouri territory. Don Zadnik kicked the point.

Missouri wasted little time getting even as Kuhlmann returned the next kickoff 65 yards to the K-State 20. Quarterback Phil Snowden scored two plays later from the 15 and Charley Rash kicked his 23rd consecutive extra point, a new Missouri record.

The Tigers swept into a 14-7 lead in the second quarter with Don Mason scoring from the one, after a 52 yard drive and Rash again kicking the extra point. Kansas State, sticking to the ground with a sharp split-T offensive, moved the ball 61 yards in 15 plays to get back in the game shortly before the half. Bill McKinney, Missouri end, blocked Zadnik's try for the point.

Grosse's field goal, which came on a fourth down after the Wildcats had reached the Missouri four, was the only scoring in the third period.

Missouri got its final lead, 21-16, in the fourth period as Kuhlmann bowled over from the 6 in a drive that carried 80 yards, but that only set the scene for halfback Ralph Pfeifer's game winning touchdown from the six with four minutes and 21 seconds remaining.

Kansas State beat the host team to the punch in every phase of the game. The Wildcats got 252 of their 410 net yards rushing in the first half and never had to punt until the middle of the third quarter. The Wildcat line, with tackle Jack Keelan and Don Zadnik providing the most conspicuous muscle, limited Missouri to 154 ground yards.

moved it there on a drive from the 18 yard line of the Tigers in the last of the first quarter. Herick went five and then smashed through the line for four and the score. Kasak's carry was short when he fumbled the ball. It was done in 24-seconds.

Again the Tigers kicked off and after Kemper picked up a first down they again were forced to punt, and in the play the Tigers drew a 15 yard penalty and took over on their own six yard line. The drive started with the locals making six first downs and moving it to the eight yard line. A five yard penalty was drawn, but it didn't stop the Tigers. Wertz and Reed picked up 11 yards and then Bryan carried it across for the score. Sedalia was penalized five yards on the try for extra point and then Reed was trapped when he tried to get through. The score was then 24-0.

After the kickoff Kemper had the ball on their own 18, fumbled and recovered by Sedalia on the 17. The Tigers failed on four tries and Kemper took over on their own 12. Hill on the first play fumbled and Ronnie Dirck recovered on the six yard line. Wertz added four and Garrison went over for the score. Dennis Whitfield made a pass to Bill Kelley for the extra point.

The half ended Tigers 31, and Kemper 0.

Kemper kicked off at the opening of the second half and the Sedalians took over on their own 38 yard line. Reed went 17, Wertz picked up 24 and it was on the 21 yard line. Sedalia lost five on a penalty, then Reed fumbled but recovered from two yard gain. Wertz on three carries picked up 16 yards and the ball was on the eight. After both teams were penalized five yards, Holman picked up 10 yards and Wertz went five for the score. Whitfield's try for the extra point failed. Tigers 37, Kemper 0.

On the kickoff Kemper charged on their 38 yard line. A pass Hamblenton to Berger netted 38 yards. On the next play Bill Brewster on a handoff went 24 yards for the touchdown. The kick was blocked.

The third quarter ended with the Tigers leading 37-6.

In the final period, Kemper fumbled on the first play and the Tigers took over on the 10 yard line. Reed and Whitfield picked up nine yards then Melvin Brown went through the line for the score. Whitfield's pass for the extra point was incomplete. This gave the Tigers 43 points.

JEFFERSON-CITY, Mo. — The State Park Board chose new concessionaires for the three state trout parks yesterday, but deferred selection of concession operators at other parks.

At Montauk State Park near Salem the present concessionaire, Ruben West, was successful bidder to continue operating the cabins, hotel and store.

Numan Cole of Desoto, formerly at Washington State Park, won the concession rights at Roaring River State Park near Cassville. The boating concession at Roaring River was awarded again to Bill Carney.

jackets worked the ball from the 20 yard line down to the Tigers 25 yard line and on the fourth play Brewster was trapped for a 13-yard loss and the Tigers took over on their own 38. On two first downs the ball was moved to the 41. Wertz made a 21 yard gain only to have it nullified on Sedalia's backfield in motion. Brown lost five yards, then Brown picked up 16 yards, followed by Wertz who went zig-zagging through the line for 35 yards and the score. Reed ran the ball over the center of the line for the extra point to give the Tigers 50 points.

This ended the scoring for either team.

Jobs for the future...

INDUSTRIES MEAN JOBS-AND PAYROLLS
YOU CAN PROVIDE THEM...HERE'S HOW----

THROUGH SEDALIA'S NEW INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT PARK

Recently the board of trustees of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce Post War Civic Development Fund purchased Sedalia's new Industrial Development Park, because they recognized the need for this basic step if Sedalia was to continue its progress so earnestly desired by every Sedalia citizen. This industrial tract consisting of more than thirty acres was purchased with funds made available when the Home Building Corporation repaid the construction building loan advanced by the Post War Civic Development Fund some ten years ago. Now, Sedalia has the industrial site, and a comprehensive plan for its development for the use of a community of industries. The big task ahead is to secure the industries to keep JOBS for Sedalians and Sedalia area people. Fortunately, several good industries are interested in locating in Sedalia. All they ask is an adequate building with necessary parking facilities in which to conduct their production operation. In most instances these firms cannot tie up their working capital for purchase of site and building, because of equipment purchases they must make. However, they are not asking for gifts, they expect to pay for the building and site with interest under a lease-purchase agreement which will allow them to retire this cost over a long term plan — usually ten years.

...AND SEDALIA'S NEWEST INDUSTRY

The Precision Engineering Company of Maquoketa, Iowa, will be the first industry in Sedalia's new industrial park area and will occupy approximately five acres in the north end of the tract. This firm is engaged in precision production machine work on a contract basis and is currently doing work for Clinton Machine Company, National Engineering and Manufacturing Company, Lawson Motors, Power Products Company and the AMPCO Co. of Springfield, N.J. In addition, it will have a moulded plastic division in the new Sedalia plant. Construction of the 12,500 square foot building to house this industry is underway and will cost approximately $60,000.00, exclusive of site costs. This new building will make possible the creation of JOBS for 35 people immediately and a projected employment of 125. The cost of this new building must be underwritten by Sedalians interested in community progress under the Shares for Jobs plan outlined below.

$60,000 IS NEEDED NOW!

Early last summer the industrial division of the Missouri Resources and Development commission succeeded in attracting Precision Engineering Company to the state of Missouri and several communities became actively engaged in courting this industry's management in an attempt to secure the firm for their city. Charles T. Reisdorff, president of Precision Engineering, who was invited to Sedalia by Dave Stratton, products engineer for National Engineering and Manufacturing Company, liked Sedalia and the opportunities our central location offered. In August, the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce through its Industrial Committee signed a contract with Mr. Reisdorff to construct a 12,500 square foot building to house the new industry and to make it available to Precision Engineering under a ten year lease-purchase agreement. At the time the contract to construct this new building was signed, the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce had on hand for use for such work slightly more than $2,000.

But, the contract was signed and work on the new building is approaching the half-way mark. The contract was signed because Industrial Committee members realized that Sedalia could not afford to allow this good industry to slip through its fingers. The committee members were certain then, as they are now, that Sedalia people would respond to a Shares for Jobs plan and raise the necessary $60,000.00. Everyone with a stake in Sedalia's future needs to take part! Use the Subscription Agreement below and let's create more JOBS for Sedalia people. For any information you are invited to call 895.

Here's How You Can Help!

The Sedalia Improvement Association, Inc., a private Missouri corporation, sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, which was used some years ago in connection with an industrial development project, is being reactivated and will have an authorized capital of $300,000.00, and a par value of stock at $25.00 a share. As soon as a sufficient number of new share holders is obtained and the necessary mechanics of the proposed changes is completed the present officers and directors will resign. Immediately following this a special meeting of the share holders shall be called to elect eleven directors, who then will elect new officers to serve until the next annual election to be held on the second Tuesday in March, 1958.

The operations of the corporation will remain independent of the Chamber of Commerce, except that it will recognize the Industrial Development Committee and the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of acquiring land for and financing manufacturing plants suitable for such industries as will produce additional payrolls for Sedalia. The corporation will operate as a business enterprise, investing its money in land and buildings, to be sold or leased, or both at a profit to the corporation.

As a Sedalia citizen, as a business person, or a professional person you have a stake in Sedalia's future prosperity and you can invest in future JOBS for Sedalia by purchasing shares in this corporation for the purpose of producing more and more payrolls for Sedalia. This will have a direct bearing on the value of your property, your business, your profession and even your own present job.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL

With an authorized capital of $300,000.00, as rapidly as funds are obtained through subscription of stock, other prospects now known to the Sedalia Industrial Development Committee will be followed up. Only industries where the potential payroll is large enough to be worthwhile will be considered, and in all cases, the investment in land and buildings will be a sound one.

The cost of stock has been set at $25.00 per share, so that everyone may have an opportunity to invest in JOBS. You may purchase as many shares as you wish, pay for as many as you are able at this time and sign a Subscription Agreement for shares you wish to buy over a two year period. By your stock purchase in this profit corporation you will be investing in JOBS and payrolls for now and for the future. Your investment will be in buildings and sites and should in time produce a direct return.

DO YOUR PART! Fill in the Subscription Agreement today and mail to Sedalia Improvement Association, Inc., Sedalia Chamber of Commerce Building, 113 East Fourth Street, Sedalia, Mo. Stock share certificates will be immediately available.

Republicans Appoint New Chairmen

The regular meeting of the Pettis County Republican Club was held at the home of Mrs. Herb Studer, 906 South Barrett, Monday, Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Leroy Luchs, president of the club, appointed the following committee chairmen for the November and December club projects: Mrs. Fred G. Rose, 815 West Third for the November project and Mrs. Ed Kehde, 2201 West Third, for the December project.

Mrs. Rose and her committee are preparing for a rummage sale to be held the last of November. Mrs. Kehde reported that ideas and materials had been gathered for the December project, but more definite commitments were needed for workers.

Mrs. Kehde complimented the members responsible for bringing so many new faces to the meeting, adding that if everyone continued his or her efforts, the club membership goal of "58 more members by January 1958" will easily be reached.

George H. Miller explained the program of the State Republican Finance Committee for the coming months. It was agreed that a letter should be written to the State Republican Finance Committee expressing the desire of the club to give its support to the coming program.

THANKSGIVING, COLONIAL STYLE—Although Thanksgiving Day is still some time away, staff members of Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich., re-enact a pre-Revolutionary holiday dinner in the Secretary House, once the home of a wealthy New Hampshire family. ## Velma Elsenratt, D. C. Stratton Exchange Vows Saturday Evening

At seven o'clock Saturday evening, November 9, Miss Velma Kelley Elsenratt became the bride of David Christopher Stratton at the Ambassador Room of Bothwell Hotel. The Rev. J. R. Wallace, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar which was centered with an archway entwined with greenery. Tall standards of shell pink gladioli and white Fuji chrysanthemums were tied with large satin bows and the streamers led to smaller arrangements of the same flowers. Lighted tapers in seven branch candelabra were on either side.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mary L. Kelley of Sedalia, and the late John W. Kelley. Mr. Stratton is the son of Mrs. Ellen Stratton of Dubuque, Ia. and the late William C. Stratton.

Mrs. Edythe Ross, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Al Domingue as he sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". At the close of the ceremony he sang "The Lord's Prayer". The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, John William Kelley, wore a waltz length gown of Roman blue Chantilly lace over matching silk tulle with a small blue velvet bow in the back with streamers falling to the hemline. Her headband, a small white crown of tiny flowers each centered with pearls, held a cartwheel veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Edwin Vohrenberg, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of candlelight crystal satin styled similar to the bride's. Her coronet of velvet was in matching color and the short veil was sprinkled with pearls. She carried a bouquet of delphinium blue carnations.

John Faber served as best man. W. Kenneth Schib, Sr. and Donald M. Patton ushered. W. Kenneth Schib, Jr., nephew of the bride, lighted the candles preceding the ceremony.

Mrs. Kelley chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of steel blue satin with matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of orchids. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend the wedding.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a floor length cloth of white net sprinkled with rhinestones over ice blue satin, caught at the corners with clusters of pink sweetheart roses and white lace streamers. The four-tier wedding cake, encircled with fern and pink roses, centered the table. Three branch silver candelabra holding white tapers and low long arrangements of white chrysanthemums and pink roses on either side completed the setting.

Mrs. J. W. VanderEn and Mrs. Gary Hartman served the cake. Mrs. William Lindenmeyer presided at the punch bowl and Miss Colleen Kelly at the coffee service.

Mrs. William Wilson was in charge of the gifts and Mrs. W. Kenneth Schib was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton are residing at 807 West Seventh.

A large number of out of town guests attended the wedding and reception.

THANKSGIVING OUTFITS

Thanksgiving is always a very special day and regardless of where you are going you should help make it more important by looking your very best. For those who stay home and even if there are no guests, make yourself as attractive as possible. Actually Thanksgiving marks the beginning of the holiday season and you should start it in the right spirit. For a casual day at home, dyed-to-match outfits are smart. Quilted cotton full skirts and matching blouses are gorgeous and so practical, because they do launder easily. If you are going out the occasion may call for dressier dresses and the new ones are as delightful as a Christmas bauble. All colors are being shown, with lots of red and black taking the lead. For those of you who can wear white, you will find it included, and of course it is smart as always. Suit your make-up to the change of colors, it adds to the picture you will want to present.

Let a Portable Dishwasher Save You 504 Hours a Year

There's no lugging of dishes if you have a mobile dishwasher. Built-in hose and drain connection attaches to sink faucet. The washer does it automatically.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

After a few autumn dinner parties, the estimate that the average housewife spends 504 hours a year washing dishes by hand seems inadequate.

The hostess who has worked her way through a counter full of china, glasses, silver, pots and pans after the guests have departed will agree.

Bending over the dishpan late at night is not the time to recall the calculation that in 25 years of marriage the average housewife will wash 850,000 dishes. This sparks some of us to linger longer over automatic dishwasher displays, to drop hints and bone up on what to expect should such a mechanical helper enter our kitchens.

A recent survey shows that a housewife washing dishes by hand spends the equivalent of 63 eight-hour days a year at the job.

A mechanical dishwasher can do the same job in the equivalent of 27 eight-hour days.

One drawback of earlier model dishwashers has been the preliminary scraping and rinsing necessary before dishes could be loaded into the baskets.

New models boast improved action to eliminate most of this.

According to manufacturers, only hardened or large pieces of waste food need to be shaken off the dishes. Water hurled at high velocity removes the remaining particles and flushes them away.

School Days Are the Time To Do Some Redecorating

Now that the children are back in school, many mothers are finding that they have time to get in a little redecorating. First chore often turns out to be the bedrooms.

Washable bedspreads, slipcovers and drapes are a necessity, especially in homes with children and puppies. Now it's possible to make spreads and curtains of topsail, that longwearing, gay and washable lightweight sailcloth that has been a standby in small-fry playclothes and now is available in decorator widths of 48 inches.

The decorator topsail comes in patterns coordinated with solid colors. You may choose stripes, checks or plaids teamed with matching plain colors.

A fresh and pleasing combination is a pink and white striped bedspread with solid pink dust ruffle. Curtains may have plain valance and striped drapes.

Local sewing center experts suggest making a reversible bedspread, plain on one side, striped on the other, to go with a solid color dust ruffle. One full width of fabric goes down the middle of the bed, with a half-width stitched to each side to form the overhang.

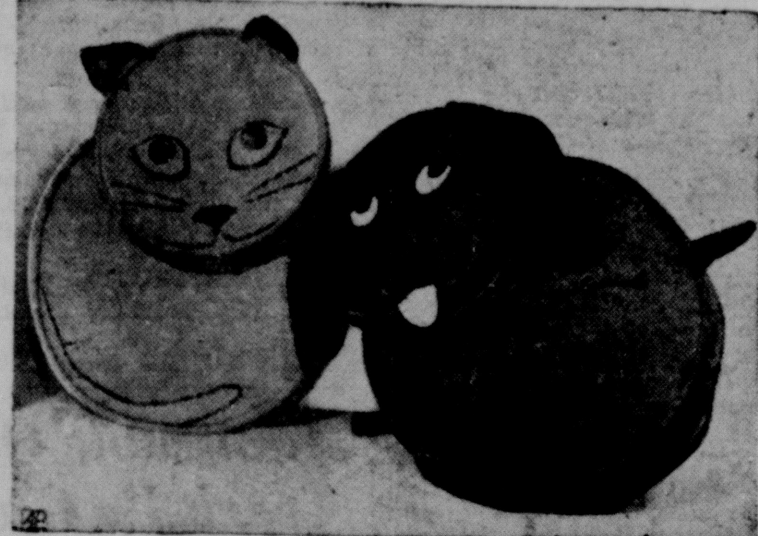

Cut two complete spreads, one striped, one plain, round the corners at one end, and stitch right sides together around both sides and rounded end, leaving top open. Trim seams and turn to right side, just like a pillowcase. Press carefully to eliminate wrinkles and topstitch open ends together.

Coordinated cafe curtains, in striped and plain topsail, make a good decorating note.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Arnold Jr. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Ellen, to James H. Sanders, son of Mrs. John Kuykendall, Ottumwa. The wedding will take place November 30.

Silly Pillows Are Easy Made

ANIMAL KINGDOM—Cat and dog pillows easy to make.

It's no longer enough for a pillow to be comfortable. Nowadays pillows are an important part of bedroom decor, and must be unusual, colorful, pretty, whimsical or just plain silly.

Whether you are decorating a bedroom for a college daughter or a kindergarten belle, animal pillows will fill the bill.

You can make a pillow cat and a pillow dog from a standard pattern, following these suggestions from experts at your local sewing center.

Each pillow is made from a round foam rubber pillow, available in department stores, plus two thicknesses of one-inch foam rubber glued together for the smaller circles that form the heads. The pillows are covered in corduroy or fake fur fabric. Each requires about one yard of 35-inch fabric.

Follow pattern directions for cutting and assembling the pieces. The pattern includes transfer designs for the dog and cat faces. Eyes, ears, noses and the dog's tongue are made of felt, and lines tracing the mouth, whiskers and such may be done either with decorative stitching with an automatic zigzag or may be stitched on with narrow rickrack braid. In any case, finish the faces and decoration before stitching pillow covers together. Covers are zippered so they can be slipped off for laundering.

It's a good idea to make several of these pillows at once, to use for Christmas gifts or bazaar items. They are quick and easy to make, and are sure to be appreciated.

Free Men Race Against Clock

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

The methodical beep-beep-beep of the spinning Soviet earth satellite suggested the running of a clock against free men. Never was it more urgent than now that the world understand the true comparative nature of freedom and communism.

How do you win to the cause of freedom the peoples who have only the dimmest notion of its rewards? Millions of Asians and Africans know little of liberty as we know it. They see no reason to fight and die for it.

On the coin's other face, they know little of Communist tyranny. They learned long ago to hate colonial domination, which many have shaken off. But communism they seem to know only by vague repute. And they listen more to the material promises than to our tales of its terror.

We realize that if they should experience Communist rule they will learn the ugly truth. But then it may be too late for pulling back. In our own interest as well as theirs, we dare not wait until that moment.

We and all who stand with us even in our strategic adversity must somehow make a monumental effort to assault the world with the bitter truths of Communist tyranny. We must dwell upon them endlessly.

Yet we cannot rest there. With far greater energy and imagination than we have ever before brought to the task, we must show the world what the great rewards of liberty really are. They must see, and feel, the tangible benefits for themselves. But they must also be persuaded of the immense cultural and spiritual values inherent in the ways of freedom.

Americans traveling or living abroad must be better missionaries than they generally are. Too often we tend to put our worst foot forward, stressing the brassy aspect of our bustling life. We need to cultivate a deeper understanding of other peoples and show a willingness to embrace the good things of their life as we hope they will do of ours in return.

We know we have a great country, a fine tradition of freedom, and a remarkable record of achievement of human betterment for ourselves and others. But we must present our story with humility, not with an air of smug superiority.

We deserve to be understood for what we are. Again, it is our job to see that we are. But it is not all ours.

Some of the world's emerging peoples are primitive. They cannot be looked to for an easy appreciation of the comparative merits of the American system and Russian communism.

But others, like the people of India, have a long, long history of civilized living, are steeped in their own philosophy and wisdom, and pride themselves on their grasp of fundamental human values.

Too many among these peoples are blinded by the hate engendered in the colonial era. By mysterious means that often seem wholly unreasonable, much of this feeling has been transferred from Britain and France to us.

Men in these older civilizations need to look inward upon themselves. For wise men are men of compassion, tolerant of human frailty, especially when it shows itself in a people so well marked by qualities of service to free humanity, as are Americans.

Some who have resented our supremacy now take an odd delight in our adversity. They do not appear to grasp that our adversity is the adversity of all aspiring free men.

Whatever our failings, our strength is ranged on the side of liberty, of living standards lifted up, of dignity and respect for the human individual.

On the success of the mutual adventure of trying to bring better understanding between ourselves and others hangs the fate of all free men on this earth.

Good Posture Habit Should Be Formed During Youth

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

"The school doctor's report on my daughter says that she has a poor posture. Please let me know what causes this and what can be done for it," writes Mrs. M.

Aside from the fact that poor posture mars the appearance, it can also result in slowing circulation of blood and interfere with the feeling of good health. Since poor posture usually lasts into adult life, the best time to attend to it is during youth.

Fortunately those who design public seating are recognizing more fully the importance of comfortable seating which helps to build or maintain good sitting posture. Proper standing, however, is entirely up to the individual.

There are three basic postures: standing, sitting and lying. Good standing position does not necessarily mean the position of attention required on the parade ground.

Long-continued standing at attention slows the blood circulation and too much blood gathers in the lower extremities. This explains the fainting which sometimes happens to military men held at attention for long periods. However, sometimes the sun is also at fault.

Ordinarily, when a person stands for some time he should shift the weight from one foot to another and from the heel to the toes. When the body is allowed to make such shifts one becomes less tired and the muscles less tense. The body should be held erect with the knees and feet directed straight ahead. The abdomen should be held flat but not tense. The abdominal muscles can be trained to do this without conscious thinking.

In sitting, the shape or height of the chair or seat is important. The trunk and head should be held straight above the seat or tilted a little forward. The height of the chair from the floor ought to correspond to the distance of the legs from the knee to the heel. The back of the chair should be straight but comfortable fitting. Comfort cannot be ignored.

Too low and too soft seats tend to cause poor sitting postures. Since we are not all built alike, adjustability of seats is desirable when possible, particularly in school.

Much of our time is spent lying in bed. Many mattresses are softer than they should be. This results in too much relaxation of some muscles and tenseness of others. In fact, some backaches are produced by too soft beds. When this occurs, innerspring mattresses may have to be eliminated.

If a bed has too much sag, a piece of plywood can be placed under the mattress. There is also a trend today toward greater use of "firm" mattresses.

Good posture is easier to acquire if proper exercise is obtained. Exercise increases the supply of air to the lungs and improves the circulation. Naturally it must be adjusted to the age and condition of the individual. But it is almost certainly a factor in posture, particularly among the young.

New Jersey Political Race Had Interesting Background

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—The bandwagon roll to make New Jersey Gov. Robert Baume Meyner a Democratic presidential or vice presidential candidate in 1960 has a ditch to cross before it can really go places. It is a religious question, which should not be mixed up in politics, but somehow always is.

In Governor Meyner's case, there is evidence that public sentiment on this issue of religious prejudice is changing for the better, auguring more political tolerance for the future. Bringing all the facts out in the open should contribute to this end, and it is with this in view that this is written.

Governor Meyner was born and brought up a Roman Catholic. Both his parents were Catholic. But his father, now dead, sent his boy to public schools. When young Bob Meyner was a freshman in Lafayette College he stopped going to mass though he never affiliated with any other church.

He is not irreligious. Since his marriage and his move into the new governor's mansion in Princeton, he has attended several churches, including Catholic services. But he is not a regular churchgoer.

Following custom, he has attended services in the First Presbyterian church—the Capital church in Trenton—preceding the opening of state legislature. His mother and his fiancée, Helen Day Stevenson, attended with him this year.

When Governor Meyner and Miss Stevenson were married in January, it was in the Congregational church in the town where the bride's father, William E. Stevenson, is president of Oberlin College, Ohio.

Through a curious, once-in-a-million coincidence, the facts on Governor Meyner's religious background were not made an open issue in this year's governorship race against Republican Malcolm S. Forbes.

Forbes had also been baptized a Catholic. His mother was Irish Catholic, his father Scotch Presbyterian. Their marriage agreement was that one child should be brought up Catholic, the next Presbyterian.

In the Princeton University yearbook, when he was graduated, Malcolm Forbes identified himself as a Republican and a Catholic. Today, however, Mr. Forbes is an active member in the Protestant Episcopal church.

So, with both candidates former Catholics, the issue was a stand-off in this year's campaign and neither party could accuse the other of having a backsliding candidate.

All this came out first during a memorable dinner which L. Richard Guylay, 1956 GOP National Committee publicity director, gave last August for a group of Washington political writers in honor of Forbes.

At this dinner, Forbes was asked if he would raise the issue of Governor Meyner's religious background during the campaign. He replied somewhat coyly that he had no intention of doing so.

Then one of the correspondents who knew the facts asked if this wasn't because Forbes himself "was in the same boat." The Republican candidate admitted that it was.

This might have ended the matter as an issue in the campaign, but it didn't. A few weeks later an anonymous letter was sent to all Catholic priests and nuns in New Jersey.

It purported to give the religious background of both candidates. The case of candidate Forbes was covered in a short paragraph at the end saying he had never been trained in the Catholic faith. Governor Meyner's case was given in full detail and in a most unfavorable light.

The letter was so vicious that newspapers refused to print it. It became a whispering campaign, but its influence—if any—may have backfired. For it was quietly repudiated by the New Jersey Catholic hierarchy.

The letter was shown to Governor Meyner. He admitted he was not a practicing Catholic. This had been known in his previous campaigns for state senator and for governor, and had not caused his defeat. It did not prevent his reelection Nov. 5, 1957.

Whether it will become a handicap in any efforts to make Governor Meyner a national political figure is another question. Some Democratic leaders in Washington think it will. Others do not.

Admirable Older Persons Teach Us Graceful Aging

Like a flower that blooms in the fall, long after most of the garden has faded, the older woman with a warm smile, a sparkle in her eyes and an up-to-the-minute interest in the world about her is a real and unexpected pleasure to meet.

We may forgive the old if their talk is of aches and pains, if their comments on the present are a little sour, if they have lost the ability to listen but still demand the right to talk.

We mark up their lack of warmth for others and their preoccupation with themselves to old age and let it go at that.

But every now and then you meet a woman whose age hasn't dulled her warmth, or enthusiasm, or her feeling for others.

On the contrary, the years seem to have added to her charm rather than to have taken from it.

Whenever you have the rare privilege of meeting an older woman that you immediately want to know better, you have a wonderful opportunity to learn something about the art of living.

Study her carefully to try to find out why she is such a delight to others, when she might just as easily be just another older person, living in the past, criticizing the present and voicing fears of the future.

A lot is being written today on the problems of aging and the necessity for acquiring, while still young, the qualities that lead to a happy and useful old age.

But nothing you read can teach you as much about how to be a happy older person than studying the older people you most admire.

LAST YEAR COMING back from duck hunting a man found a dead duck on the water -- not a mark of any kind on it. He had always wanted a duck to stuff so he brought the duck home with him and put it in the locker thinking later he would send it off and have it stuffed.

Recently some relatives were down from Kansas City, and wanting to make room in the locker for other things, he cleaned it out and gave what was in it to the people in Kansas City. He had forgotten all about the duck, which went along to Kansas City, too.

When the people in Kansas City found the duck with all its feathers still on and in perfect condition they didn't know what to think. They wondered if it was some kind of a joke and they didn't know what to do with it. So they contacted the Sedalia man who was just as surprised as they were -- he hadn't thought about that duck since last duck hunting season.

THE FAMILY SAT watching a television program on which they were preparing for a hamburger and steak fry.

"Where are the hamburgers and the steaks?" asked someone on the program.

Then about that time someone led in a cow and announced, "Here they are."

The little girl watching the program turned to her father.

"What is he going to do with that cow?" she asked.

"He's going to make hamburger and steaks out of her," the father told her.

The little girl's brown eyes got big and there was a horrified look on her face.

"Oh," she said, "he wouldn't do that to his own cow, would he?"

Postmaster Awaits American Satellite

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Arthur Summerfield is a pioneering Postmaster General when it comes to painting mailboxes red, white and blue; but he is very cautious regarding Sputnik. He is just not going to print a new stamp commemorating the International Geophysical Year until the U.S.A. hoists a Sputnik of its own into the skies.

Summerfield has already decided that the United States will honor the Geophysical Year with a commemorative postage stamp. However, he's going to wait until the very last day of the year — even until Dec. 31, 1958 if necessary — before issuing the stamp. Of course, if a real live American Sputnik gets over the horizon before the day, then the stamp will be forthcoming.

Reason for the sagacious Summerfield's caution is that the design proposed for the Geophysical Year's stamp would include the official IGY emblem. This emblem shows a satellite orbiting through space around a globe.

The Russians had not made an announcement on their satellite plan when the IGY symbol was adopted; so world scientists, enchanted with the promised U. S. contribution to the "Year," placed the American satellite on the design of the emblem.

However, since the U. S. A. hasn't produced, the postage stamp-using public would view this as the Sputnik, not our would-be satellite. So Summerfield, taking no chances, will wait. He doesn't want to be accused of honoring Russia's achievement.

However, one nation, Japan, has already issued a postage stamp showing the IGY emblem and the would-be American satellite. It was issued July 10, 1957. Other countries have also been issuing stamps showing their contributions to the IGY program.

Molasses-Moving White House
A lot of people are asking: "Why the bog-down on the missile-satellite program?" Part of the answer goes to general molasses-motion inside the White House. This boggs down a lot of problems. Here are some illustrations:

Civil Rights Commission — This was ballyhooed by the White House time and time again, beginning with the President's State of the Union message in January. On July 16 Ike urged: "I hope that Senate action on this measure will be accomplished at this session without undue delay." At that time a Civil Rights Bill was certain to pass, and Ike could have begun considering commissioners to administer it. But he delayed. Not until November, more than two months after the bill was passed, did the President act.

Foreign Aid — No issue before Congress got more attention from Eisenhower than foreign aid. He especially urged a "Development Loan Fund" to lend money abroad. He got his loan fund from Congress — after going on television to appeal to the people. But now, three months after winning the battle, he still has not appointed a "Fund manager" to administer the money he said was so essential.

Education — Beginning four years ago, the President publicly urged aid for education. Privately he gave Congress no help to pass aid to education. Scores of phone calls went to Congress to block Hell's Canyon and to block the Patman Probe of high interest rates and Eisenhower Fiscal Policies. But not one to help secure aid for our schools, which are beginning to lag behind Russia.

The delay on missiles and satellites involved some other factors, but the so-called "tranquilizing" mood inside the White House was one reason for the bog-down.

New Hampshire Humorist
Greatest humorist in Congress, in a quiet, quaint, New England way, is Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire. Here is a cross-section of his Coolidgeesque observations written to the folks back home:

"This Congress is both a hare and a tortoise — mostly tortoise." . . . "We must get back to work. In my next letter I'll come down off the mountain top and report to you from the trenches." . . . "As a boy, I was amazed and impressed by a lecture on the internal mechanism of the dairy cow. I regarded Bossy with a new respect, a complex machine — a milk factory on legs. She has four stomachs — one true stomach, three for storage. In one day she can cram 150 pounds of wet grass into her compartments. Then she retires to a shady place, regurgitates it in small amounts, chews it thoroughly, and digests it in her 'true stomach.' Congress should be equipped with the same kind of apparatus." . . . "The Department of Agriculture will hire three additional mycologists but will keep the same number of zymologists and cytopathologists. I am not sure what these are, but here's something I know about — the same department plans to spend $125,000 to increase production of castor oil in this country." . . . "This week Texas and Arizona Senators slipped a joker into an appropriation bill to make the government buy protein meals (for cattle) and give them to their section as drought relief . . . Yet since 1934, a food stamp bill to use some of our surplus in giving a proper diet to undernourished people hasn't been permitted to reach the floor. This solicitude for animals over humans is curious, isn't it? Reminds me of the first letter Henry Ward Beecher ever wrote — at the age of 5.

"Der Sister,
We are al wel
Ma haz a baby
The old sow has six pigs."

Johnson's Farewell

Some politicians' farewells are like those of actors or concert performers. They are only the first of a series, and the real final engagement may be years off.

Thus one can't be sure at this moment, three years from convention time, that Sen. Lyndon Johnson's "farewell" to presidential ambitions in 1960 will really stick.

But if it does, then the outlook is substantially changed for the Democrats. There probably is no other Southern party leader now on the horizon who can command the support Johnson would likely muster in the South itself.

Whether or not he could ever hope to draw enough strength from other sectors to give him a serious chance at the nomination is, of course, the big question. But certainly anyone going into convention with a big block of Southern delegates would have a lot of weight to cast into the final balance.

With Johnson out, and assuming no one else comes along to take his place, Southern delegates would tend to veer toward some promising non-Southern candidate. The shape of the race would be quite different.

Thus far Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts has found considerable favor in the South, though it is still too early to tell whether this can be translated into delegate votes.

Unless Johnson changes his mind, the South seems sure to be a busy hunting ground in the years ahead. And, obviously, Southerners, aware of their strategic position in any nomination fight, will be prepared to do some hard bargaining with vote-seeking candidates. Nobody gives something for nothing in politics.

WASHINGTON POST: Secrecy and Supremacy. It is time to ask ourselves whether pre-occupation with our "scientific secrets" instead of with science itself has not resulted in impairing the real source of our strength in the loss of the supremacy we once could claim. "We cannot drive scientists into our laboratories," President Truman observed in 1948, "but if we tolerate reckless or unfair attacks we can certainly drive them out."

In sober truth, we have driven out of our laboratories a great many preeminent men of science: J. Robert Oppenheimer and Edward U. Condon are notable among them. We have discouraged younger men from entering the laboratories by subjecting them to frustrating and fettering security regulations. We have let scientists become targets of suspicion and abuse — sometimes, in point of fact, by committees of the United States Congress. In the name of security, we have sacrificed science.

Nationalist Chinese Face Big Problem of Low Morale

EDITOR'S NOTE: Correspondent Fred Sparks, who in years past scouted the Red mainland with anti-Communist guerrillas and has been the Nationalist Chinese reformed from their mainland defeat, reports Free China today after a return visit to Taipei.

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Special Correspondent
TAIPEI, Formosa — The Nationalist Chinese Government faces an historic crisis. It is a crisis of the spirit.

I have been calling here at regular intervals since President Chiang Kai-shek fled — with remnants of his vast armies — from the Communist conquered mainland in 1949. Never have I found morale lower.

Showdown is the theme that in the misty tomorrow there will be a "counter-attack," a return to the mainland. It is simply no longer believed; such is the cost of pledges constantly made, constantly unfulfilled.

More than that, further repetition of the "counter-attack" theme is seeded with danger; the Chinese, ever cynical, ever wise, resent being treated like children. (A Navy officer, an old friend turned off the radio that had blared another "counter-attack" speech and said: "What an insult! The government must think we're fools.")

World realities relegating activities in the Formosa Straits to a minor role as scientists labor for supremacy has finally made its impact here at all levels of power. The United States will not support even the smallest offensive war in Asia at this time; alone the Nationalists would stand naked before the yet growing military might of the Communist Chinese.

Practically every government leader of substance except perhaps President Chiang himself now tells visiting intimates it is essential to present the two million Chinese refugees here with a new purpose in life, a positive goal.

VENEZUELA PYRAMIDS BUSINESS CENTER—This huge, earthen pyramid at Caracas, Venezuela, covers 25 acres and has been carved from a mountainside. It's the foundation for a spiral-shaped building, a permanent exhibition hall and TV station, the "Helicoide." Brain child of Venezuelan architect, Dr. Jorge Romero Gutierrez, the building will be 365 feet tall. As it is contoured to the side of a hill, it will be 25 stories high on one side and 10 stories on the opposite face. Spiral ramp with a very slight incline will enable patrons to drive directly to the store or office they're visiting, and closed TV circuits will bring telecasts of merchandise to its many salesrooms. The building is slated for completion in 1960.

Judge Calvird Is Speaker At Sorosis Club Meeting

An appropriate talk for Veterans' Day and for the month in which falls both the American Thanksgiving and "Know Your America Week" was presented Monday afternoon before Sorosis by Judge Charles A. Calvird of Clinton.

Although his entire talk, in which he shows famous places he has visited in Europe and South America and gives much of the history of them, is interesting, the most impressive part comes at the close when he really tells what America means to him.

The narrative, Judge Calvird said, he wrote a long time ago. He did not say whether it was for a talk he was making or just inspirational, but it is indeed, something in itself that makes Americans think and feel a pride in their country. Then one night the idea came to him to illustrate it with pictures he had taken all over the world, pictures that were taken on the trips that had inspired the story on his native land. And so he worked hours finding, from his many hundreds of pictures, exactly the right ones to fit so perfectly with his words. It is this that holds his audiences spellbound in his masterful combining of pictures and words, and somehow you wonder, if it stirs Americans to such depths, what would it do to people of other countries who do not know this freedom.

In a fascinating manner Judge Calvird told about the many beautiful pictures flashed on the screen — the London Tower, which was begun in 1078, was later a fort and is now a museum, and the green in front where many executions had taken place; the House of Lords, how the House of Commons had been destroyed completely in the war and the House of Lords gave up their chamber to them until the House of Commons could be rebuilt; Westminster Abbey—many more beautiful cathedrals are in England, he said, but none so historic; the Country Church Yard about which Thomas Gray wrote his famous poem and was then buried there; Hampton Court, the place where Henry VIII lived with all six of his wives—"But not all at once," Judge Calvird hastened to add—and many other historic places.

He showed Waterloo where Napoleon met defeat, and the beauty of Brugge, Belgium, with its quaintness and cleanliness, the boat trip up the Rhine on Sunday afternoon with its old castles and beneath each a little town, for many years ago the people in the castles owned the little towns below them.

Judge Calvird showed a picture of the Grand Canal in Vienna and called attention to the fact that the lovely stained glass window in the Heard Memorial Club House is the same scene of the Grand Canal. He had a picture of the original of the Last Supper and said he saw hundreds of reproductions of the Last Supper, all of which looked better than the original. Strangely, he said, two walls of the room in which was the painting of the Last Supper were destroyed in the war but the wall on which the Last Supper was painted remained unharmed.

When Judge Calvird showed the picture of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, he said somebody asked him what the tower was for and he didn't know. But he found out—it was a bell tower to the cathedral. He went to the top of Eiffel Tower but it took three attempts to get there. The first time he and the man he was with, along with about 90 other people, got to the first landing, which is pretty high and they were so busy looking around that when they got in line for the next which was the wrong line and they found themselves back down on the ground. So they tried it again and made it to the second landing. Again they got mixed up, got in the wrong line and found themselves down to the first landing again. The last time, however, they made it to the top.

The people of Peru, he said, are small and dark and the people of Santiago, Chile, are large and fair, and pretty—everybody is pretty.

Buenos Aires, Judge Calvird said, is the most beautiful city of all, no dirt, no dilapidation, no poverty, everything is beautiful and it is almost free. Nothing costs very much. Judge Calvird found only one difficulty—nobody spoke his language—so he was glad when the telephone rang and the young man who had made all plane arrangements for his trip called, said he, also, was on a vacation trip there, had checked the list and found Judge Calvird's name and wanted to meet him.

That was a real break, thought Judge Calvird, and as he stepped outside his hotel he saw a young student to whom he said "Good morning" in his American way. The student was delighted to find someone who spoke English, because he had been trying to learn it from books and had found it difficult. He wanted to show him around while he was there, so the three of them had a grand time together. Judge Calvird had just cashed a $10 cashier's check into the money of that country and when they were in a restaurant where they had a fine meal he handed the waiter the equivalent of 25 cents. The waiter looked a little upset and said something. "What did he say?" Calvird asked of the boy.

"He said that wasn't quite enough to pay for the dinners," replied the boy.

So Judge Calvird tried to explain that that was a tip and the boy thought it was too much for a tip. The waiter was very pleased, however. When Judge Calvird paid the bill, it was 40 cents for the three of them.

Judge Calvird brought in, throughout his talk, the importance of various places through their connection with Biblical people as well as the historical background. He was introduced by Mrs. Alice Wolfe, history and literature chairman.

Mrs. Harold Dean, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. George Lockett, civics chairman, announced that the speaker next week will be Dr. Thomas Spencer Hopkins, a new doctor in Sedalia, who will tell of some of his experiences while in the Navy. There will be a luncheon.

Moses, portrayed by Charlton Heston in Cecil B. DeMille's Production "The Ten Commandments," now at the Fox Theatre, is seen here at the time the great lawgiver led the Exodus out of Egypt.

The above scene was taken from Columbia's filmization of "TEEN-AGE DOLL," which stars June Kenney and Fay Spain. Co-feature, "UNDERSEA GIRL," stars Mara Corday and Pat Conney. This big double, shock and roll show plays today through Tuesday at the Uptown Theatre.

Perry Como Has Advice For Others

By BOB THOMAS
NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The guy who started it all has some advice for the 16 other singers who have TV shows this season. Says Perry Como: Get yourself some good writing.

There can be no doubt that Perry triggered the age of the singer in television. Last season, he got an assist from Dinah Shore, but hers was not a weekly show. It was Perry who stood up against the giant, Jackie Gleason, two years ago and in his own easy manner eventually pushed him over. The age of the comics was finished.

"I don't see how all of us singers can survive," Perry observed during a rehearsal break. "Seventeen singer shows on the air! Something's got to give."

"I can see what's going to happen: next year we'll all be off the air and the comics will take over again."

Not likely. But it's certain that some of the singers will be casualties. If they follow the advice of the master, they'll take the money for lavish sets and costumes and put it into writing.

"I can't emphasize that too strongly," said the bland crooner. "I'm convinced that if we've had success it's due to the writing. Some of the things that Goodie Ace will write for us are just fabulous. They're not the obvious thing. We don't bring guests on and let them go right into their specialties."

"We find things to do with them. Little things. Cute things. Things you might not expect. For that reason, stars seem to enjoy playing our show."

Actresses Say Jim Cagney Is Top Actor

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16 (AP)—You can always get an argument on who is the movies' greatest actor.

Nominations run the gamut — but among actresses who have costarred with him, and some who haven't, Jimmy Cagney wins hands down.

Rosalind Russell once said her greatest showbusiness desire was to play opposite him. "He's electric. This man is the finest actor in the business."

And Barbara Stanwyck, probably the most professional of all the actresses, says she sits through Cagney pictures twice.

"I can learn something about my business every time I see him. He's the greatest."

But men admire Cagney too, as any theater owner will tell you. Probably that's why he is among the most durable of all Hollywood stars.

Cagney, soft-spoken, modest and entirely unlike his often cocky screen characterizations, proves that the bigger they are, the nicer they are.

Over the years he has turned in some memorable screen performances — as George M. Cohan, a role which won him an Academy Award; as the toughest of screen gangsters in "Public Enemy"; as the mean but pitiful Gimp Snyder in "Love Me Or Leave Me"; as the villainous but comical skipper of "Mister Roberts" and the present tour de force as Lon Chaney in "Man of a Thousand Faces," which some critics expect to get him an Oscar nomination.

And if he needed to prove his versatility, there's "Short Cut to Hell," his debut as a movie director.

He says, though: "I got no particular kick out of directing. I still consider myself a song and dance man."

Producer of the picture is A. C. Lyles, who started on the Paramount lot 20 years ago as a messenger boy, worked through publicity to production. "Short Cut to Hell" is his first go as a producer.

He and Cagney have been close friends ever since Lyles handled a personal appearance tour for a Cagney picture some years ago. As a fledgling producer, Lyles didn't have a few spare million to play around with.

Cagney knew that if Lyles could get a good picture, on a low-budget, he would be a producer for good.

Jimmy, now 53, worked harder as a director than he ever did as an actor—and he draws a quarter-million or better per picture as a star. His fee for directing—exactly nothing. He pooh-poohs any notion that he is generous hearted.

"That Lyles is a shrewd businessman," quips Jimmy. "He offered me a deal where I would get 25 per cent of nothing. No tax problem. I just couldn't afford to turn him down."

Cagney can afford to be generous with his talent because he's made his money out of California real estate.

He also invested in farms in Massachusetts and upstate New York. The onetime hooper from the sidewalks of New York today is among the nation's most famous working farmers.

At Stanfordsville, N.Y., he runs a 700-acre dairy farm with 90 cows; on Martha's Vineyard he

Ross Fultons Take Trip Through East

By Mrs. Russell Kendrick
KNOB NOSTER—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fulton are on a three-week eastern trip. They will visit his son, M-Sgt. Milton J. Fulton at Ft. Meyer, near Washington, D.C., and another son, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fulton in D.C. and friends in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kendrick spent Saturday in Kansas City with Mont Kendrick, Mrs. David Meeker of Birmingham, Mich., was also a guest in her brother's home.

Dr. G. W. Grove and daughter, Mrs. George Grove, Butte, and Mike spent Sunday in Kansas City with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Duffer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Olvis, Diane and Donnie, Higginsville, spent Sunday with Mrs. Bessie Als.

Mrs. Ruth Lane and Miss Mary Hogan were Sunday dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Wasson, Smithton.

Mrs. Burney Rice, Butte, Mont., is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. P. Lay and Mr. Lay. They spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Marino and Julianne in Overland Park, Kan.

has a 200-acre estate (that's mostly for his hobby, sailing) and one of his California holdings is a 600-acre horse ranch.

He makes two pictures a year. The rest of the time he is a working farmer.

In upstate New York or Martha's Vineyard, Cagney says he's just another name on the mailbox.

"My neighbors there never criticize my last performance or heap me with phony praise. Once in a while some farmer in a country store, will ask my name:

"When I give it to him, he may say: 'Oh, yes, you're the fellow who owns that acreage back of Begley's.' That's all I mean to him. Sometimes I think they have never heard of Hollywood."

He and his wife, the former Francis Vernon, have been married 31 years. They met in "Pitter Patter," Cagney's first Broadway show.

The Cagneys have two children, James Jr., 17, and Casey, 16. Neither has shown the showbusiness bent of their parents.

"My boy is interested in farm genetics and my daughter has wanted all her life to be a veterinarian. That's fine with me and their mother."

Report on 4-H Feeder Pig Sale

Seventy-four rural youth divided over $13,000 at the recent "pay-off" meeting in Vienna. This is the amount received from their fall 4-H feeder pig sale last month. With the good practical experience gained by conducting their own sale, plus the price received, 4-H members, project leaders and parents agreed that the Oct. 14 sale had been quite successful.

A total of 841 pigs sold for $13,471.46. Average weight was 50 pounds and average price per head was $16.02. Although there were several buyers present the pigs were purchased by nine buyers with one taking over 500 head.

The sale committee is already laying plans for a bigger and better sale the latter part of April, 1938. Several county leaders say they expect not only an increase in consignments, but also further improvement in pig quality. There are eight counties participating in the sales, Maries, Gasconade, Phelps, Cole, Morgan, Moniteau, Pulaski and Osage.

Benefit Variety Show Given at Blackwater

The W.W. Extension Club sponsored a benefit variety show Tuesday evening at the school building in Blackwater with Archie Eichman master of ceremonies. Those appearing on the program in solos were Miss Patty Dinwiddie accompanied by her brother, Gary Dinwiddie, and Mary Ann Putnam accompanied by Kathryn Bryan all of Boonville, John Emerson, Arrow Rock; humorous reading, Martin McGuire; piano solo, C. H. Ernstmeier; pantomime, Miss Diane Esser, Boonville; humorous the Kitchen Band, composed of 12 ladies of the Boonville Evangelical Church and under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Putnam, rendered several numbers; men's quartet from the Federated Church, Arrow Rock, presented two numbers; the Barker sisters of Boonville with Mrs. Roy Barker at piano sang; Miss Evelyn Purvis, New Franklin played an accordion number; the Midwest Ramblers, Charles Tichenor, Napton, Sam Dyer, Lawrence Ellis, and Roy Renfrow, Marshall, furnished music during and after the show. Members of the W. W. Club gave a humorous skit of complete the program. Refreshments were served all participating on the program.

ment, the best club consignment, based on quality and quantity, is awarded a registered boar of breeding age. The Vichy 4-H Club received the award for the fall sale. Five 4-H members of the Fairview club of Phelps County and of Mason Ridge and Dixie Clubs of Maries County received five gilts to start gilt chains. These chains are set up to provide a source of high quality gilts. The young people receiving gilts this fall will return a gilt from their first litter to the chain. These gilts will be passed on to other members and so on.

When the gilts given this fall become of breeding age next spring, each club will receive a registered meat type boar whose services will be made available to 4-H sow and litter project members.

It is believed that the placement of these good gilts and meat type boars, plus the practical experience of members carrying out good production and management practices will do much to insure high quality feeder pigs. This will help strengthen the demand of buyers and give additional financial returns to 4-H club members doing a good job.

Future Nurses Club Stuffs 8,000 Envelopes With Seals

This is another revealing story of today's youth — tomorrow's women — who plan to go into the profession where there is such a great need—nursing.

It was last May that several Smith-Cotton girls went to Mrs. Betty Murrell, school nurse, with the idea of starting a "Future Nurses Club".

Strangely enough, only a short time before Mrs. Jane Stewart, the wife of Dr. Robert Stewart, had gone to Mrs. Murrell with the same idea. The Pettis County Medical Auxiliary would like to sponsor such a group, Mrs. Stewart told Mrs. Murrell. And so it was arranged. The Medical Auxiliary invited all the girls from the three high schools in Sedalia who were interested and the club was organized. Carol Hyatt was elected president.

This was near the end of the school year, so there was only time for two organizational meetings but during the summer the girls volunteered to work at the Crippled Children's Center, and they did. It was a wonderful experience for them, and the children loved them.

In September Mrs. Stewart started the Club off with a meeting at her home and since that time the girls have been meeting the first and third Mondays of each month after school.

It was on Oct. 19, that a trip was made by school bus to Kansas City and there were 28 girls. Chaperoning them were Mrs. Murrell, who is the school sponsor, and Mrs. Mary Fingland, both registered nurses, and two Junior Future Nurses, Mrs. Murrell's little daughter, Ann, and Barbara Lanpher, both ten years old, which made a total of 32.

The group toured St. Luke's Hospital and Nurses Home during the morning and were entertained by some of the student nurses.

At noon they had lunch at Winsteds and, says Mrs. Murrell, you have never lived until you have tried to feed that many in a school bus. It kept the one little car-hop hopping trying to wait on them. Winsteds, of course, is Gordon Montgomery's place and when that former Sedalian heard there was a busload of Sedalians there he hustled right out. It has been a long time since Montgomery lived here and at Smithton, so the only one he knew was Mrs. Murrell.

The little car-hop, with the busload of big appetites had an awful time. The orders got mixed up, but the girls didn't mind. Their meal was a real surprise because they didn't know what they were going to get but they ate whatever showed up whether they had ordered it or not. That busload of Future Nurses was really the center of attraction, and it was fun.

During the afternoon they toured the Kansas City General Hospital and Nurses Home. It was very interesting to the girls for they saw the crippled children and, among other things, a premature baby being fed.

In November the club voted to assist the Pettis County Tuberculosis Association with the Christmas Seals. So last Thursday they met at the home of Mrs. Murrell where everything was all set up for them to stuff the envelopes. They had a regular assembly line and they kept Mrs. Murrell and Ann busy keeping the supplies on the table. Mrs. John Welch, secretary of the Association, found herself shuttling back and forth from her house to Mrs. Murrell's with more and more supplies. They completed stuffing the 8,000 envelopes and had them ready to mail in one day, and if you don't think that is a big job, just try it once.

The work was all done by the Smith-Cotton girls because Sacred Heart had school and those girls couldn't be there. Joyce Ream, Janice Grimes, Judy Corson, Janet Morris and Judy Gardner worked all day. Sharon Vedder, Evelyn Dunham, Karen Schlosser, Anita Foster, Donna Trueman, Carol Hyatt, Cynthia Butler and Diane Sklar worked part of the day.

The busy little crew had lots of fun and there was gay chatter as they worked. During the morning do-nuts and Pepsi-Cola were served, furnished by the T.B. Association. At noon the girls were taken by Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Stewart to Reinhart-Welch's where they were served hot dogs, cookies, cider and Pepsi. In the middle of the afternoon there was more do-nuts and more Pepsi and at 4:30, when their day's work was done, Mrs. Welch again took them for more hot-dogs. Somehow it is hard to completely fill up teenagers, they found.

The girls have a point system for their civic work, and when they earn so many points they receive a pin. This is one of the things they have, done to earn points.

The Future Nurses have adopted for their uniforms a blue checked gingham pinafore with white blouse. As the girls reach the age of 16, they want to do volunteer work at Bothwell Hospital. This is their next project and will be under the supervision of the Red Cross, with Mrs. Harold Dean to instruct them in their duties, after which they will be supervised by some of the Gray Ladies Corps.

Turkey Dinner At C. Stegner Home

The Opti-Mrs. Extension Club met Tuesday, Nov. 6 at the home of Mrs. Clarence H. Stegner for a turkey dinner. Each member brought a covered dish.

Mrs. Fred Hirst opened the business meeting by reading a poem, "A Word or Two and a Smile". Mrs. Herbert Meyer read the news letter from Mrs. Kathryn Immerman.

Mrs. Robert Warnhoff reported on the County Achievement Day held in Boonville. Mrs. Hirst announced that a blue ribbon was won on the secretary booth and also on standard of achievement.

Mrs. Milton Schlottzauer read the letter from Mrs. William Shepherd regarding the Red Cross training classes in Boonville. Mrs. Henry Jeffress read an article on Associated County Women of the World.

Plans were made to have the Christmas party Dec. 11.

Humfeld is also a command pilot with more than 6500 flying hours. He has flown 58 different type military aircraft during his service career, including the B-29, B-50, B-36, F-84F and B-47.

He is married to the former Jennie B. Reese of Republic, Mo., and they have two children, Garold 6, and Mary Kathleen 2.

488th Sq.'s History Is Very Colorful

One of the most colorful and exciting unit histories in the Eighth Air Force was released this week by Lt. Col. John F. Turnbull, commander of the 488th Bomb Sq., Whiteman Air Force Base.

A ground echelon unit of Whiteman's present 488th Bomb Sq. on Jan. 30, 1943, marched aboard the USS West Point (formerly the luxury liner America) and traveled around the world before its tour of combat duty was complete.

The 488th's journey took the outfit to New Zealand, Australia, India, and finally to El Kabrit, Egypt — beside the Suez Canal. There on the sandy desert the ground echelon was joined by the flight crews with their "Billy Mitchell" bombers.

In early April 1943 the squadron traveled 1900 miles farther west where it went into full combat operation at Sfax, Tunisia.

From there the 488th traveled through Sicily, over the "heel of the boot of Italy," and finally to the base of Mount Vesuvius. While at Vesuvius the squadron supported the Anzio beachhead and pounded the famous Monte Casino Abbey before encountering its first real set-back.

In April 1944 the outfit moved to the island of Corsica (where Napoleon was born) and continued to bomb the "Jerries" in Italy, Yugoslavia, and as far north as the upper end of the "Brenner Pass."

The 488th launched 12 planes on a mission in September 1944 that proved to be a very unique one because they caught the cruiser "Taranto" in La Spezia harbor, Italy, and proved beyond a doubt that "pickle barrel" bombing could be done.

Rimini, Italy, a once lavish resort city on the northeast coast of the peninsula, was the unit's twelfth and last real station while overseas. The 488th flew its last mission by bombing the Steinhach north rail bridge in Austria on April 25, 1945.

The 488th as a mass unit July 4, 1945, returned to the United States. "War weary" planes with tired but happy men on board returned home via the Southern route, across the "Rock," and finally landed at Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, Fla., after 10 flying days.

The unit dropped its first bombs April 14, 1943 and by the time the Germans surrendered almost two years later, it had flown 460 missions with an average of ten to 12 planes on each one. At times the squadron alone launched 18 planes on a single sortie.

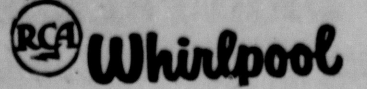

Although the 488th does not use the same insignia today that its predecessor used in World War II, "it has the same proud spirit," states Col. Turnbull.
